SOVIET-REICH PACT FIXES 6 POINTS IN GIGANTIC NEW SHIFTING OF WORLD'S 'SPHERES OF INTEREST'

20,000 Italians Routed by 2,000 Greeks Accord Decides 'Hands Off' Policy With Axis Powers

Men Toiled Two Days to Reach Foe
Wounded Captain Tells How Italians Were Caught Flat-Footed in Mountains
Describes Panic
Hand-to-Hand Fighting Too Much for Duce's Soldiers

Athens, Nov. 14 (AP).—Some 20,000 of Italy's finest mountaineer troops who marched gaily into Greece on October 28 were cut to pieces and routed by a comparative handful of 2,000 Greeks in an eight-day battle which began on the 30th, a wounded Greek captain declared today.

The captain, 37-year-old Panos Kyriakou, propped up in a hospital bed to tell his homeric tale, said his men toiled 54 miles through the Pindus mountains in a continual downpour of rain for two days to make victorious contact with the invaders.

The Italians were caught flat-footed, he said, and from that moment the story was one of deadly Greek bayonet charges up craggy slopes, of close-quarter combats with rifles and machine-guns in ravines and passes, and of a panicky Italian retreat.

On November 6, Greek reinforcements took over the job and the weary 2,000 got a rest.

Captain's Account
Here is Captain Kyriakou's account of the savage battle.

"The encounter took place on October 30 in the early morning on Mount Goumari, a peak 5,900 feet high, west of Mount Smolika and six kilometers (about 3 1/2 miles) northeast of the town of Samari.

"The Italian forces consisted of the Third Alpini Division, two battalions of Bersaglieri, two battalions of Grenadiers, and two independent companies, supported by mountain artillery, 19 Howitzers, 12 machine guns to each battalion, automatic rifles and a multitude of other equipment of all descriptions.

"The Italians were taken completely by surprise.

"They were marching in four columns of three battalions each. As soon as the fight began and the first machine-gun bursts were fired, the Italians were thrown back and started retreating in a northeasterly direction.

Samarina Attacked
"A company of Greek cavalry under Captain Tavoularis simultaneously attacked Samarina (a Greek town in Epirus) and forced about 2,000 Italians there to leave in the direction of Mount Smolika, taking the difficult pass which leads toward Distrato.

"In a ravine locally called Pri-onia, we took our first 11 Italian prisoners without resistance. They raised their hands and shouted 'Viva Grecia!'

"Our march forward was delayed by material, such as machine guns, automatic guns, and (Continued on Page Two)

Visits Rome
Antonescu Will Discuss Country's Role in New Order of Axis

Rome, Nov. 14 (AP).—Gen. Ion Antonescu, Rumanian chief of state, arrived in Rome today, presumably to discuss his country's role in the "new order for Europe" designed by the Axis, and informed sources said he would go on to Berlin for conferences with Adolf Hitler after talks with Premier Mussolini.

Foreign observers said his visit might be connected with possible German plans to use Rumania, already controlled by German troops, as a base for eventual operations in the Balkans.

Bucharest dispatches said Antonescu came here "to fulfill a mission entrusted to him by the whole Rumanian people" as "interpreter of Rumania's aspirations in the new Europe."

Japan Is Believed Preparing Drive Upon Indo-China
Chinese Press Says Tokyo Aiming at Permanent Occupation of All of French Area

Shanghai, Nov. 14 (AP).—Foreign circles expressed belief today that Japan was preparing for another move in the near future against French Indo-China, possibly ending the shaky sovereignty of that French colony.

Chinese newspapers contended Japan was aiming at permanent occupation of all French Indo-China.

Chinese reported new Japanese demands on the colony included the right to land troops at the southern port of Saigon, circulation of Japanese military yen throughout the country and "loans" of 500,000 Indo-China dollars a month to finance exports to Japan.

Foreign sources lacked information whether such demands actually had been presented but said current developments did point to another Japanese move against Indo-China in the near future.

The Japanese already have won air bases and other military concessions and stationed troops in northern Indo-China.

Foreign officials saw another immediate source of danger to Indo-China in the current tension with Thailand (Siam). It was held likely that any serious clash between the two might be used as a Japanese pretext for landing troops and restoring order.

Thus squeezed by Thailand on the west and Japanese military and naval forces on the north and east, it was believed possible that Indo-China would surrender its sovereignty in fact if not in name, without attempting an armed defense.

Some colonial leaders, including a number who favor the "Free French" movement of Gen. Charles De Gaulle, and who oppose yielding to Japan, are gathered at Saigon, but they lack the forces necessary to put up a successful fight.

Border Tension Halts Trade

Hanoi, French Indo-China, Nov. 14 (AP).—All trade between Laos province, French Indo-China, and Thailand (Siam) has been halted because of border tension, informed sources reported today.

These sources said Thai troops were concentrating at several points on the Thailand side of the Mekong river and were building rafts and inclined launching platforms.

Indo-Chinese versions of the latest border incident said Thai troops had invaded a village near Pailing but were repulsed with a few wounded. Thai planes, it was said, may be seen frequently over French territory.

Rear Admiral Jean Decoux, governor general of French Indo-China, has given no indication that he intends to resign.

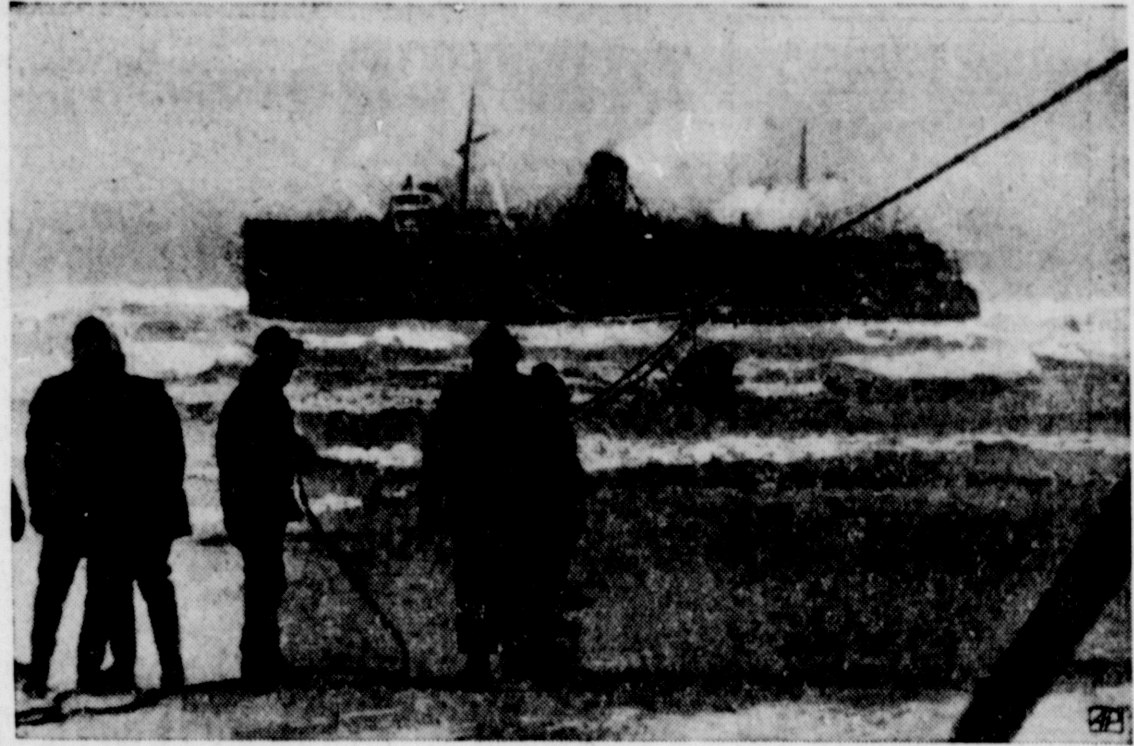

(Domei, Japanese news agency, reported Tuesday that Decoux had resigned partly because of increasing opposition in the colony from "Free French" followers of General Charles De Gaulle.)

The governor general told Japanese correspondents in an interview last night he was confident that "Japan and Indo-China through mutual understanding would be able to accomplish realization of the new situation based upon confidence and respect."

He also was quoted as saying that he intended to follow a policy "whereby we will be able to remain at peace with Britain and America provided the European war does not spread to the Far East."

Signs for Three Years
New York, Nov. 14 (AP).—The contractual matters between the New York Yankees and Manager Joe McCarthy were closed for another three years today when the club received McCarthy's signed contract to pilot the team through the 1943 season. Club officials said the terms were the same as in the last contract which was believed to have called for $30,000 yearly.

Scores Die in Early Winter Storms in Midwest

The car ferry City of Flint, (above) aground at Ludington, Mich., with four passengers and a crew of 43, was one of the craft which fell victim to the severe storms which swept the midwest. Several other ships were missing on the Great Lakes, with many lives feared lost, while numerous duck hunting parties also were caught in the early season blizzard. Several hunters were known to have perished.

Japanese Quit Provinces
South China Evacuation Is Denied

Tokyo, Nov. 14 (AP).—Imperial headquarters announced today that the Japanese army had completed its withdrawal from Kwangsi Province and Southwestern Kwangtung Province, dropping the curtain on a significant year-long chapter in the Japanese-Chinese war.

The announcement said Japanese forces finally withdrew yesterday from Yamchow, port on the Kwangtung coast through which the expedition which drove last November into Kwangsi and captured Nanning, the capital, was supplied.

The withdrawal was said to have been accomplished "without casualties." (Chinese dispatches had reported recapture of Yamchow after stiff fighting.)

A war office spokesman denied that the withdrawal from the Kwangsi theatre was a prelude to a wholesale evacuation of South China. The Japanese army continues to hold a considerable portion of Eastern Kwangtung Province, around Canton.

Bullitt Attempts To Quit His Post
Eight Objectors Get Prison Term

President Refuses to Take Resignation of U. S. Minister to France
Theological Students Will Be Sent to Place to Be Named by Jackson

Washington, Nov. 14 (AP).—William C. Bullitt announced today that President Roosevelt had declined to accept his resignation as ambassador to France.

Bullitt issued a statement saying that he had expressed to the President a desire to resign last August and submitted the resignation in writing on November 7.

The ambassador said he had believed he could be of more service to the country if he were free to write and speak without restrictions of public office.

The statement said the President, however, expressed a wish that Bullitt should not resign and that was how the matter stood now.

Still left open, however, was the question of whether he would return to France or be assigned to some other diplomatic post such as London, in connection with which his name has been mentioned.

It was believed in well informed quarters that Bullitt was not likely to be sent to Vichy, capital of non-occupied France.

Speedup Is Ordered
London, Nov. 14 (AP).—A speedup of munitions industries which will involve drafting 1,000,000 men and women from non-essential industries and from among the unemployed has been ordered by the government.

Searchers Find Aged Man Missing Since Tuesday; Condition Serious
John Zeigler, 75 years old, who was reported missing from his home at Quarryville Tuesday, was found about midnight by searchers along the river at West Camp. The aged man was suffering from exposure and was brought to the Kingston Hospital by ambulance. At the hospital his condition was reported today as very serious.

Reported missing from his home in Quarryville since Armistice Day, State Troopers under Sergeant James Cunningham, conducted a wide search in the vicinity of West Camp where it was reported the aged man had last been seen on Tuesday night.

Zeigler left his home in Quarryville and apparently wandered away until he lost his way. Wednesday morning State Police learned from residents of West Camp that the aged man had been seen in that vicinity on Tuesday night and the search was centered in that area. When last seen Mr. Zeigler was going toward the river and the water front was the scene of an intensive search during the night.

It was near midnight that he was found by the river at West Camp and his exhausted condition made it necessary to summon an ambulance to bring him to the Kingston Hospital, where he was admitted about 2 o'clock this morning.

Loan Hinges Upon Stand Spain Takes
Franco Seeks Money, Report Says, to Feed Hungry Nation and Rebuild Country
Aid Is Studied
Welles Says Proposals to Assist Spanish Are Being Studied

By LLOYD LEHRBAS
Washington, Nov. 14 (AP).—A Spanish request to the United States for a loan of $100,000,000 was reported today in informed diplomatic quarters.

No decision on the loan request has yet been reached, it was stated, and ultimate action was expected to await pending events in the European war and clarification of Spain's position in the conflict.

Some administration officials, it was understood, look askance at the Spanish request for financial assistance in view of the bitter attacks made in the government-controlled Spanish press against the United States, particularly in regard to this country's relations with other American republics, and the Philippines, once a Spanish colony.

The $100,000,000 loan is desired by General Francisco Franco's government, it was said, to feed and rehabilitate a hungry and impoverished Spain, which has been unable to achieve recovery from its long and destructive civil war.

Proposals are studied by the State Department, acting secretary of state, without mentioning the loan question—disclosed that ways and means of assisting Spain were under consideration by American officials.

None of the proposed plans to aid Spain have crystallized, Welles said, and no final decision had been made. He added—significantly, in the view of diplomatic circles—that Spain's economic problems appeared to be a question for the American Red Cross.

Even under severe rationing, there is a serious shortage in many day necessities. Where I passed through Spain recently I found supplies of many foodstuffs exhausted, many other articles extremely scarce, and all prices excessive.

No meat was on sale in Madrid, the capital, and I was told foreigners and wealthy Spaniards, able to afford the luxury, secured meat only by purchases from "bootleggers" who smuggled in small supplies. Potatoes, eggs and chickens also were "bootlegged."

All travelers through Spain report men, women and children begging for food in every city.

From my observations it appeared Spain's condition was even more serious than France, which observers agree faced a winter of extreme privation, if not actual starvation.

Press dispatches, permitted to pass the Madrid censor, report that Spain's economic and food supply condition is so serious any military adventure might be disastrous.

Even if Spain should permit transit of German troops to attack British Gibraltar, observers believe the Germans would have to carry their own food and supplies, for it would be impossible to live off the country as Nazi forces did in Poland, France and other invaded countries.

Spain's flirtations with the Axis powers, some believe, continue chiefly because some Spanish officials consider the only quick remedy for Spain's plight is a successful invasion of France's African colonies with their supplies of foodstuffs and raw materials.

21 Belgians Killed
Berlin, Nov. 14 (AP).—Twenty-one Belgians were reported killed and 80 injured today when a train collided with another at Dieghem, near Brussels, in a storm.

Russia Will Get Vast Area to Control; Dardanelles Won't Be Touched as Long as Turkey 'Behaves'; Berlin Is Raided by R.A.F.

Another gigantic split-up in world "spheres of interest" was pictured by reliable quarters in Berlin today as the outcome of negotiations between Adolf Hitler and Russian Premier Vyacheslav Molotov.

With British bombs raining on the heart of Berlin shortly after Hitler and Molotov concluded their discussions, these quarters gave a 6-point description of the new Soviet-Reich accord:

Russia will have her own "Grossraum," or vast region of domination, lying generally between Japan's Far East sphere and axis-claimed Europe and Africa.

Russia's "Grossraum" will not be created at the expense of nations not involved in the European war: No further slice will be taken from Finland nor will the Dardanelles be seized from Turkey, providing Turkey "behaves."

Turkey must make up her mind definitely and finally regarding her place in the "new order" in Europe.

Russia's compensation for supporting the Rome-Berlin-Tokyo program must come from a "bankruptcy inventory" of the British empire.

If Russia wants to realize her ancient dream of gaining access to the world's oceans, possibly via Iran or Afghanistan and British India, the Axis powers will raise no objections.

All parties concerned will join in efforts to bring about a non-aggression pact between Russia and Japan.

Boiled down, the reported outcome of the Hitler-Molotov talks seems to indicate that Germany, Italy and Japan will not interfere with Russia if Russia does not interfere with the Rome-Berlin-Tokyo triple alliance—in other words, a mutual "hands off" agreement.

Another Blow Struck
Amid this diplomatic fanfare, London reported that Britain has struck another blow at Italy's big naval base at Taranto, following up an earlier attack this week.

"Dispatches from a British battleship off Taranto said Royal Navy bombers, attacking by moonlight, blasted at Taranto's inner defense in the first raid Monday night, leaving one great Italian warship aflame and two others beached or half submerged."

Aerial torpedoes and high-explosive bombs crashed against the Fascist men o'war, the dispatches said, and sheets of fire leaped from the 35,000-ton Littorio—described by Italians as the fastest warship in the world.

Pilots reported that fires burst from the other damaged battleships, both belonging to the 23-622-ton Calvour class, with one of them left "half under water" and the other beached.

From London, it was reported that at least three of Britain's giant aircraft carriers are now operating in the Mediterranean, with the fleet air arm commanded by Rear Admiral Arthur Lumley St. George Lyster.

Ironically, Admiral Lyster is a Cavalier of the Italian Order of the Crown, appointed in recognition of his World War services.

Bombers, Sights May Go to Britain Under New Plan
Official Sources, However, Say Service Has No Idea of Releasing Prized Sights

Washington, Nov. 14 (AP).—Big bombers for Britain—and perhaps bombsights of a long jealously guarded pattern were reported today to be major items on a new administration program for increasing aid to England.

Official sources were uncommunicative about the bombsight, except to stress that the army and navy had no intentions of releasing the prized, new sighting mechanism which is rated as one of the country's most important military secrets.

There were authoritative hints, however, that an earlier and highly effective type of bombsight may be made available to the British. It was understood, however, to be considerably less accurate than the model which superseded it for use of the American armed services.

On the subject of the big, long range bombers, official reticence was less marked. While formal confirmation was lacking, authoritative reports were that 40 giant (Continued on Page 17)

Vichy Protests
French Say Germans Give Alsations Choice of Going to France or Poland

Vichy, France, Nov. 14 (AP).—The French government announced today it had protested to the German Armistice Commission concerning the expulsion of French-speaking residents from the province of Lorraine.

A communique, issued after an urgently-summoned cabinet meeting, declared the Germans had given French-speaking Lorraine residents the choice of being expelled to Poland or France.

Since all chose France, the communique declared, the residents were being transferred into the unoccupied zone of France at the rate of seven trains daily.

The Germans were accused of telling the Lorrainers that the action was being taken as the result of an alleged accord between Vichy and Berlin.

boxes of hand grenades and ammunition, strewn over the pass. "At 3 p. m. my battalion attacked, pressing around Distrato. A fight developed in the ravine while I was trying to climb Mount Smolika to gain a dominant firing position.

"A night attack launched by more battalions drove the Italians back north of Smolika and threw them into the racine.

Fought for Six Days

"There the fighting continued for six days. The Italians, being chased back from hilltop to hilltop, managed to take advantage of the terrain to circle about.

"At 1 p. m. on November 5 I received orders to attack and occupy a strategic height with one company of infantry. The height was held by about 400 Italians with full equipment. They were supported by batteries on a hill 1,000 yards away, but by 2:10 p. m. the height was taken, with the Italians driven back, leaving behind 64 dead and wounded and 27 prisoners.

"I was wounded in this engagement. The Italians, fighting in small groups of about 25, retreated in panic. My forces carried on the fight through November 6 when reinforcements arrived. My men were so enthusiastic that I could not hold them back.

"They are all from Athens and Piraeus. They played a very important role in halting the invaders, for if they had not stopped the Italians the advance would have reached the highway at Grevena.

"On November 6 the Italians still were being hotly pursued in the direction of Koriza when the retreat developed into an irregular flight, the Italians throwing away their equipment.

"Up to 8 o'clock that night, we had taken about 800 Italians prisoner and killed about 1,100.

"On the snow-covered summit of Mount Smolika, which is 8,500 feet high (highest in that region), about 250 Italians were killed by bayonet charges and machine-gun fire.

Cavalry Dispersed

"At 9 o'clock on the night of November 6, an Italian cavalry column coming from the direction of Koriza to assist the retreat was held and dispersed and itself retreated in disorder.

"Panic spread to the whole column. They threw away everything they had in order to flee more quickly.

"We tied our prisoners together with ropes in groups of 18 and led them back, each group being escorted by two Greeks.

"They made no resistance. On the contrary, they seemed pleased at their capture.

"Throughout the fighting, Italian planes with Greek colors machine-gunned and bombed the Greeks. During the first day they flew as low as 1,000 feet.

"Italians have denied previous Greek charges that Italian planes bore Greek markings, indicating they may have been inspired by the fact Italian warplanes have as tail insignia the White Cross of the House of Savoy on a blue or red field with a crown in the center. The Greek national emblem is similar, they said.

"Afterwards, however, they dropped bombs from great heights, not daring to fly low again.

"Practically all the prisoners we took were young men 20 to 25 years old, many of them wearing beards like that of the late Italian Marshal Italo Balbo.

The figures given by Kyriakou did not cover the period since November 6, during which the government has announced annihilation of the greater part of an Italian division.

Turkey Dinner Marks End Of Church Anniversary

The services and activities marking the celebration of the 50th anniversary of the dedication of the Gardiner Reformed Church and which started Sunday with sermon by the Rev. Dr. Bayles, second pastor of the church and now dean of the New Brunswick Theological Seminary, were brought to a close Wednesday night.

There was a turkey dinner, talks by some half a dozen former pastors of the church and a most enjoyable social time and reunion of old friends and members of the congregation.

Former pastors present included the Rev. Dr. Frank B. Seeley, first pastor, the Rev. Floyd L. Cornish, the Rev. Robert Ritchie, the Rev. Victor Simons, the Rev. Daniel Y. Brink, the Rev. Clarence Welles.

Others who have occupied the pastorate are Dr. Bayles, the Rev. John Neander, the Rev. John Apple and the Rev. Joseph Millett, the latter deceased.

The present pastor of the church is the Rev. Benjamin Thaden, who came to Gardiner about two years ago. The church is reported in excellent condition, out of debt and with a membership of about 150.

Certificate Is Filed

A certificate has been filed with the county clerk by Alvin Raymond, Carlton and Arnold Elliott of R. F. D. No. 3, Box 342-A, Kingston, and Vernon E. Beatty of R. F. D. Box 59, Stone Ridge, stating they are doing business on the Lomontville-Spillway road in town of Marlborough under the name of Elliott Brothers & Company. The business is quarrying and selling stone.

Boatmen to Meet

The Kingston Power Boat Association will hold its regular monthly meeting tonight at Fischer's. Commodore Maurer will call the meeting at 8 o'clock and expects to see all members in attendance. Ben Rhymer, boat retailer, will give an interesting talk on the manufacture and designs of the new models and designs.

Eight Objectors Get Prison Term

with the selective training and service act they pleaded guilty. The court accepted U. S. Attorney John T. Cahill's recommendation for sentence, while noting that the maximum term possible was five years imprisonment and a $10,000 fine.

Are Given Chance

Federal Judge Samuel Mandelbaum said that if at any time within the period imposed the defendants decided to comply with the act the court would be "only too happy" to moderate the sentences.

Those sentenced were: Richard J. Wichel, 23, of Binghamton, a graduate of Syracuse University; William N. Lovell, 26, of Poughkeepsie, who was president of the Union Theological student body and is a graduate of Yale; Donald Benedict, 23, of Newark, Albion College graduate; David Dellinger, 25, of Wakefield, Mass., Yale graduate; Meredith Dallas, 23, of Grosse Point, Mich., Albion graduate; George M. Houser, 24, of Denver, Col., University of Denver graduate; Joseph G. Bevilacqua, 24, of Buffalo, N. Y., Tufts College graduate, and Howard E. Spragg, 23, of Malden, Mass., also a Tufts graduate.

On registration day after they were served with subpoenas, the students issued a statement saying, "We do not mean to evade conscription, but to face it in all sincerity, and try to make clear our reasons for not complying with it."

One of them carried a Bible and a book of philosophy when they went to the federal grand jury room for questioning October 18.

Courtroom Is Quiet

The sentencing was in a courtroom crowded with quiet, grave-faced men and women. Court attaches said it was one of the most solemn scenes they had witnessed.

The eight young men surrendered immediately, and were taken to the office of U. S. Marshal Leo Lowenthal to be fingerprinted before removal to the Federal House of Detention.

Kenneth Walzer, counsel for the students, said "their consciences hold them to the teachings of the Great Master."

"They believe those teachings to mean what they say," he went on, "and they find in them instructions to have nothing to do with that mass killing which is called war."

"They cannot register, I put it that way instead of, as Mr. Cahill did, 'they refuse to register,' because they are committed to a great cause."

"Under the law, they could not have been required to serve in the army or navy. They actually gave their names and addresses to the draft board, but they refused to sign the yellow card, submitting themselves to the provisions of the act. Instead, they presented a signed statement telling why they had failed to do so."

None of the young men sought leniency.

NEW PALTZ

New Paltz, Nov. 14.—Harry V. Harp of Greenwood Lake and Alfred H. Enlund, Bay Shore, L. I., spent the week-end with relatives in town.

A number of New Paltz Huguenot Grange members enjoyed a turkey dinner with members of Highland Grange Wednesday evening.

Francis Dickson entertained a friend from New Paltz Normal School at his home in Verbank over the week-end.

A delegation from New Paltz American Legion and Auxiliary were in the Armistice Day parade in Highland Monday morning. Sunday, November 10, at the usual hour of worship in the Dutch Reformed Church, elders and deacons were ordained. Retiring at this time were Elders John Corwin, Frederick Dressel and Jay LeFevre, Deacons Vincent Lyons, Oscar Parلمان and Jay Zimmerman. Those ordained and installed al Navy's air arm reportedly crippled half of the Italian navy's battleships.

Soviet-Reich Pact Fixes New Spheres

"Information officially received in London shows that a successful attack was made by RAF bombers last (Wednesday) night on the docks and harbors at Taranto," a brief communiqué said. "All our aircraft returned safely."

(Italy issued a denial of British claims that half the Fascist capital ship strength was disabled, declaring the report was "fantastic.")

London's air ministry said "numerous fires" were started in the night raid on Berlin, where Soviet Premier Molotov ended his two-day visit with still no authoritative disclosure of what went on.

An official Nazi communiqué said vaguely:

"An exchange of views was carried out in an atmosphere of mutual trust and led to mutual accord on all important questions of interest to Germany and the U. S. S. R."

Informed quarters in Berlin said that as a result of the Hitler-Molotov conversations, it now was up to Britain's friend, Turkey, to decide whether she would join the Axis-proclaimed "new order" in Europe.

Turkey Is Alert

In Ankara, a high Turkish official said bluntly that if any decision at Berlin was "unfavorable to Turkey, this nation will not be taken unaware."

The official Turkish radio declared the Rome-Berlin Axis powers were in a hole because of Italy's stalled invasion of Greece, and said that Berlin, "having failed to win help from France and Spain, is now trying to win aid from Russia."

In the 18-day-old Balkan war, the Greeks reported that Italy's invasion army was retreating from the Pindus mountain sector, in the center of the 100-mile front, to escape being cut into segments by advancing Greek infantry.

Athens dispatches said counter-attacking Greek troops were also moving rapidly forward in the Epirus sector in the northwest, where the Italians had driven some distance into Greek territory along the Ionian Sea.

Mentions War Briefly

Premier Mussolini's high command mentioned the Greek war briefly in its daily communiqué:

"In the Epirus sector, our local actions supported by aircraft bombing actions have been carried out successfully in the Kalibaki zone. A few enemy attacks in the Koritza zone (10 miles inside Albania) have been completely repulsed with the aid of the air force, which hit enemy troops in the Lake Prespa region."

The Fascist high command admitted British bombers had struck anew at the Taranto naval base, at the southern end of the Italian boot, inflicting "some damage" to dwellings, with three killed, 12 wounded.

Italian warplanes were reported to have counter-attacked the British naval base at Alexandria, bombing a cruiser.

In another attack, the Italians said, Fascist planes shot aerial torpedoes into a British convoy in the eastern Mediterranean, sinking one steamer and hitting another.

Germany reported still further inroads on British shipping, with the Nazi high command asserting that eight merchantmen totalling 28,840 tons were destroyed—five by a single U-boat raider, the rest by planes. Another merchantman was reported severely damaged.

The British government reported that in the 12 months since the first bomb of the war fell on British soil, November 13, 1939, a total of 2,875 raiding planes have been shot down with an approximate loss of 7,200 pilots and crew members.

British bombing casualties were listed at 15,000 killed, 21,500 wounded—75 per cent in the London area.

German air raids on Britain during the night were hampered by bad weather. A few planes dropped bombs on London, but the all clear signalled the end of the night raids at a much earlier hour than usual.

Alimony Granted

Justice Harry E. Schirick has granted $10 a week temporary alimony and $100 counsel fees to Anna Marquit of Kerhonkson pending trial of a separation action brought against her husband, Clifford E. Marquit. Married at Lake Delaware, N. Y., on October 2, 1937, the plaintiff alleges cruel and inhuman treatment. The parties separated in March, 1940. A. J. Cook appears for the plaintiff.

New Commander

The London Daily Mail published a government announcement that Air Chief Marshal Sir Robert Brooke-Popham (above) had been appointed commander-in-chief of Britain's fighting forces in the Far East with headquarters in Singapore.

THREE BLESSINGS

The "object and end" of American government is aptly expressed by Clarence Manion, professor of constitutional law in Notre Dame University. It was stated by Thomas Jefferson with the first breath of life in this republic:

"We hold these truths to be self-evident: That all men are created equal; that they are endowed by their creator with certain inalienable rights; that among these are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness; that to secure these rights, governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed."

Here, he says, is "the most deeply philosophical credo of all political science. Here are the self-evident truths that distinguish the American constitutional system from any other government on earth. Here for the first and only time in human history is a man properly and officially oriented with respect to his Creator, his fellow-men and his government."

Today the nations of the earth mostly have only the first of the three supreme blessings which should be theirs, and even their life is precarious. Liberty is swept from this present world by dictators, and the pursuit of happiness is an almost forgotten dream.

The more reason, then, for Americans to cherish all three and make sure that the world shall not forget them.

FREEDOM

The little Greek nation has shown astonishing courage and energy in this war because it is defending its own liberties and its heart is in the struggle. The Italians, with their vastly superior power, have not been doing so well because their hearts are not in it. After making all proper allowances for the difficulty of the terrain and other factors, this seems to be the situation so far.

It has been said by military experts that the Italians are excellent soldiers when well led in a popular cause. Apparently they have not been well led now, and certainly their cause is not popular.

The Italian people have no quarrel with Greece and little desire for conquest at their neighbor's expense. They are fighting the Greeks merely because they are ordered to do so by a dictator. And so far, the Greeks have resisted them in the same spirit with which, long ago, they resisted the powerful forces of a Persian dictator.

Most of the Italians, it is reliably reported, are not even converted to the Fascism that Mussolini has imposed on their country. They are democratic at heart and cannot put their hearts into the crushing of a neighboring democracy. This, rather than cowardice or incompetence, is probably the true explanation of their failure so far in the Greek campaign.

NO RETIREMENT FROM LIFE

Dr. A. Caswell Ellis, director of Cleveland College of Western Reserve University, will retire at the end of the present school year. He makes a nice point about retirement which others in a like situation sometimes miss.

"You understand," remarks Mr. Ellis to an interviewer, "that I am being retired from Cleveland College only, not from life."

"I am sure that I shall find work in which I may be useful. Work upon something worth doing is the greatest blessing that life holds, and fortunately I still can and do enjoy 12 or 15 hours a day of it."

BOOKS FOR PEOPLE

It is national book week, and the slogan is "Good Books—Good Friends." People who are not given much to reading, as well as those who are, are urged to consider books at this time. Public libraries will do their part with attractive special displays and all their usual services to readers.

Of course, it is hoped that many persons will not only read a book but will buy a book during the week—or even several books. A wealth of advice will be offered to those who give books for Christmas presents.

A good many booksellers, the ones who are in that business because they like books and people, are impractical souls. They welcome the browser and let him wander at ease among their tables and shelves, handling the books, dipping into some of them. They don't glower if he departs without buying one. Perhaps they know that the happy browser is likely to come back again to buy.

It may be that too many books are published and that it is possible to read too much and think too little. Nevertheless, much wisdom and pleasure and comfort are to be found between the covers of books, and we can be glad that book week in our country is not a time set aside for banning and burning books, but for getting better acquainted with them.

PROGRESS

An Associated Charities organization reports 25 per cent fewer unemployed men on its rolls than a year ago. The men who formerly required help have been going back to work in increasing numbers. This is especially true in the steel mill area.

From another organization in the same city comes word that blind persons received $780 more in wages in September than they did in August.

The local Community Fund says that payments of pledges for the first nine months of the year were 91.9 per cent of the total, an increase of 11 per cent over payments to October 31 a year ago.

It is fine to have the need of such special services as those of the charities and blind societies reduced, particularly since the reduction comes from the re-employment or better wages of the many persons concerned.

In this connection, it is also interesting to learn from the National Resources Planning Board that the per capita income of the nation today is actually higher than it was in 1929.

American politicians are good sports; they don't try to start revolutions when they're licked.

It's beautiful, the way Latin-American countries are now cooperating for defense. Also sensible.

Sportsmanship is congratulating a fellow who licks you, instead of putting poison in his coffee.

THAT BODY OF YOURS

 PREVENTING CONSTIPATION

In an effort to show that a movement of the bowels once or twice a day is not absolutely necessary for good health, Dr. Walter C. Alvarez, Mayo Clinic, placed absorbent cotton up into the lower bowel and the patients all had the same heavy, lazy feeling found in constipation. The stretching of the walls of the bowel by the absorbent cotton had the same effect as the stretching of the walls of the bowel by waste matter. It is not, therefore, so much the absorption of wastes from the bowel into the blood in constipated individuals that causes their symptoms, but the stretching by the accumulation of waste matter. Dr. Alvarez reported cases where bowel movement occurred only every 5 or 6 days yet these individuals were quite healthy.

This does not mean that bowel movement should not occur once or twice a day because mankind feels better and is better when there is a daily bowel habit. Dr. Alvarez had in mind only that we should not worry about not having a daily bowel habit and take strong purgatives which cause the bowel to lose some of its nervous and muscular power.

Physicians all advise establishing a daily bowel habit to prevent the absorption, however, small, of wastes, and also because of its brightening effect upon the mind. Not only does the constipated individual have a "heavy" feeling physically but the fact that he is constipated is always or often on his mind and becomes a real mental handicap.

Some simple suggestions that, if followed regularly, will usually establish a regular bowel habit are:

1. When you arise in the morning do a few bending exercises slowly such as trying to touch the toes, knees straight, or simply tighten and relax your abdominal muscles 10 to 20 times.
2. Drink a glass or half a glass of water as you sit down to breakfast. It can be warm or cold as it is its weight that often starts stomach muscles moving and this movement continues down to small and then to large intestine.
3. Eat a large breakfast slowly, even if it means getting up a few minutes earlier.
4. Go to toilet after breakfast every morning and try to establish the habit.

"HEY, COME ON OUT AND PAY YOUR SHARE!"

By Bressler

"AT CENTURY'S TURN"

By H. L. VAN DEUSEN

Fourteen days after the big blizzard of February 13-14, 1914, had tied up all traffic in Kingston, including the trolley cars and taxicabs, on Saturday, February 28, a sleet storm broke over Kingston and Ulster county, cutting off all communications with the outside world as telephone and telegraph wires were felled by the storm.

An avalanche of snow, ice and rocks buried the tracks of the West Shore railroad at Storm King, while in Kingston the city was plunged in total darkness for two nights as the storm carried down the street lighting wires. The storm was at its height on Saturday night and Sunday night the only church services held in the city were in the churches that had both gas and electricity. The gas jets which had not been used in years were lit, and worshippers were reminded of the days when only gas was used for illumination. The most disastrous that had gripped the city and county in years.

Midway between the date of the blizzard and the sleet storm the annual minstrel show of the local Y. M. C. A. was held in Association Hall on Pine Grove avenue on February 23 and 24, and proved one of the most successful shows staged by the local "Y."

Crowded houses greeted both performances. Rowland Stickles was interlocutor and the six endmen were Clarence "Skootch" Schoonmaker, Physical Director A. H. Christian, "Bill" Newkirk, H. L. Van Deusen, "Gus" Bonesteel and Harry Every.

"Skootch" Schoonmaker, who was making his first appearance as an endman in the annual minstrel shows of the "Y" in later years took up "Y" work as a profession, and several years ago returned to Kingston as secretary of the local association, where he had become interested in "Y" work as a youth.

"Gus" Bonesteel and Harry Every also took up "Y" work and as far as I know are still active in association work in other cities.

One of the soloists at the minstrels was George D. Beckwith, who served the "Y" as its secretary when the famous $75,000 campaign for the new building was staged.

Ralph Mann in his balancing act appeared in the olio while Harry Every and City Treasurer Floyd Powell staged a humorous skit. The newly organized Y. M. C. A. Glee Club also sang.

Blockade on Italy

Columbus, O., U.P.—Britain's blockade of Italy may affect America's rat population, the state department of agriculture believes, by preventing export of red squill. Several Ohio counties have reduced rat populations by wholesale use of red squill. Officials said they prefer red squill because it kills rats but not other animals.

Repatriated Greeks Have Made Athens Most 'American' City in All Europe

By JACK STINNETT

Washington—If Italy, in its attempted blitzkrieg on Greece, starts raining bombs on Athens, it will be the destruction of what nearly all American continental travelers refer to as "the most superficially American city in Europe or Asia."

This is a phrase that needs some explaining, but it boils down to the fact that there are few if any cities on the continent where an American can feel so much at home . . . so little a stranger in a foreign land.

Almost daily now, I find newspapermen, foreign service officials, former tourists shaking their heads sadly over the prospective plight of Athens and recalling visits to the metropolis of the Aegean as their happiest days abroad. Why?

Because at the kiosks on the streets of Athens, you probably can buy more American newspapers and magazines than any where else outside this hemisphere. On the Athens rialto are at least a dozen movies where neon lights boldly announce Hollywood films in American and without the bother of Greek subtitles. In the drug stores you find all of the locally nationally-advertised brands of toilet articles. In the restaurants, you can get American food cooked in the Greek-American manner. In the groceries, you can buy American canned goods and in the shops and department stores are wares bearing American labels.

Tops Them All

I have no intention of exaggerating this. Athens, Greece, is not Athens, Ga., but I haven't talked to a traveler here who hasn't commented that it is probably easier to get by in Athens, Greece, without speaking a foreign language than in any of the continental cities.

The reason for all this is simply that probably more Greeks than any other nationality have come to America to make their fortunes, large or small, and returned to live out their days and rear their families in the "old country." Living is so cheap (at least has been down through the years) that a man with a few thousand dollars can return to his little village, buy a small farm, a cow, goats and a few olive trees and live like the king of his community. The affluent repatriates, having gotten a taste of American life, demand such things as western and detective stories, a copy of the "old home town" newspaper, American movies, and a few luxuries such as American toothpaste, scented soap, ten-cent lipstick.

Lived at Little Rock

A friend told me this story. She was traveling less than two years ago in the mountains where the people have been hearing the thunder of guns. At a little village, the party stopped and she hiked off alone to a tiny house that topped a nearby crest. There were a half dozen children about and when they found that the lady came from America, they insisted that she wait to meet their father. Soon he came and in the heartiest of Americanese that ever rolled over the Ozarks, told his visitor that he had lived for 10 years and amassed "his fortune" in the "greatest little city in the southwest," Little Rock, Ark.

All over Greece, from Crete to Macedonia, it is the same. The condition is enhanced on doubt by the fact that there is a conflict in our naturalization laws and Greece does not recognize an American natural . . . if he re-

Most Vital Question in Minds of Americans, Now That the Election Is Over, Is Whether U. S. Will Enter War

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Nov. 14.—The most important question before the American people now that the election campaign is over is whether the United States will enter the European war.

The campaign pledges and the election result gave no final answer. This is not meant to imply that campaign pledges were made without thought of their fulfillment. On the contrary, Wendell Willkie in his unity speech of this week publicly assumed that Mr. Roosevelt's pledge to keep out of war would be fulfilled. He might have added, if there had not been a danger of being misunderstood, that the pledge would be fulfilled so far as Mr. Roosevelt and the United States government may have control of the decision.

For the truth is that President Roosevelt and Secretary Hull and everybody who has any hand in shaping major policies fully hope and believe that, judged by anything which has happened thus far, the United States will not deliberately choose to enter the war. The sentiment of the people is against such a decision and the campaign merely brought out the universal desire to be kept from entanglement in Europe's war. But this is a far different thing from the circumstances that may confront the nation in the next twelve months.

History may repeat itself. It is unfortunate, to be sure, that many people today have been led to believe that Woodrow Wilson violated in April, 1917, a pledge given in the 1916 campaign and that one event followed the other as a matter of American choice.

These same observers forget that the 1916 campaign was largely by a defense of Mr. Wilson's efforts to keep the nation at peace after the Lusitania had been torpedoed in May, 1915, and a large section of the electorate felt that American rights were not being protected with sufficient vigor. Many people forgot also that in December, 1916, just a month after the election, Mr. Wilson sent his famous note on peace to the belligerent governments and that the stock market broke badly because of a belief that peace might be negotiated. It was in the latter part of January, 1917, when Germany decided to disregard all her pledges given to the United States by announcing a campaign of unrestricted submarine warfare against any and all vessels, neutral or belligerent alike, which were to be sunk without warning.

The United States government broke off diplomatic relations with Germany on February 3rd. It was only after President failed on account of a filibuster in Congress in March, 1917, to get authority to arm American merchantmen that a chaotic situation on the seas was produced out of which America in April, 1917, through a vote of Congress, formally recognized a state of war as having been thrust upon us.

It is important to recall this sequence because it may conceivably be repeated and there will be critics who will say Mr. Roosevelt violated his campaign pledge. The President has no intention at this moment of dragging America into the war, yet few persons in Washington official life can be sure that the United States will not be in the present war before it is over.

How will America be dragged in? Not by action of the government here, but by action of Berlin. A formal declaration of war by the United States or Germany would seem unlikely. Invasion of American rights and interests amounting to an "attack" would give provocation for American action which would be a recognition of acts of war by Germany.

The most likely source of entanglement will again be shipping. This time the British are being blockaded more severely than last time. In 1917, the United States was insisting on the right of her vessels to go from one neutral port to another without being interfered with. Today there are few neutral ports—those of Ireland and Portugal for instance, being open to American ships. But when spring comes and British losses of shipping reach the danger point, will the United States insist on her right to ship food and raw materials to England? America has altered her local laws by forbidding American ships to carry goods to belligerents, but this has not altered historic international law which gives neutrals the right to proceed from neutral port to neutral port and from neutral even to belligerent ports if non-contraband articles are carried.

Since it would take a repeal of existing neutrality legislation to permit American ships to resume the carrying of goods to Europe, the prospect of change in this direction seems remote at the moment, but so did the repeal of the original embargo on arms seem back in 1935. The statute was actually repealed by our Congress after the commencement of the present war—something undreamed of a few years ago.

If America insists on conveying her own merchants ships, the chances of involvement on the naval sector would seem plausible. But if Britain is being badly squeezed in the spring, the same argument for asking the American navy and air force may arise as was heard when the cry for the over-age destroyers began. The reasoning is that if Britain is beaten, America will have to fight the war on this side of the Atlantic some day and that it is better to keep the war in European areas even if America has to assist in that sector. This is not the contention heard now for naval cooperation, but it can conceivably be made by the administration if world events force the American people to some new decision in the spring of 1941.

The best answer at the moment to the question, "Will America keep out of war?" is that America wants to keep out, but Germany will have to decide whether she finds herself compelled in desperation to disregard American participation and consequences in a final gamble for victory. Herr Hitler, who was somewhat of a factor in the last presidential campaign, will really decide America's war or peace problem and probably before another twelve months have passed.

My Life With George

By I. A. R. Wylie

Once when I. A. R. Wylie had overcome her distaste for speaking in public (had in fact learned to like it) she was engaged to lecture before some woman's club in upper New York State. When she arrived she found herself billed as Elinor, and she was introduced the same way. She never told the club the truth—later, when Elinor died, someone sent I. A. R. flowers. I. A. R. tells about it in her "My Life with George," and adds that in spite of her great admiration for Elinor's prose (and poetry as well) she was never sure of her sense of humor.

That is, it might be added, the ultimate truth about Elinor Wylie. "My Life with George" is at once the most English and the least English autobiography of the year. The English are supposed to be reticent, yet when they cut loose, they are the least reticent race on this troubled globe. Certainly Miss Wylie (I. A. R., mind you, not the late Elinor) has left nothing at all unsaid. Amazing is a tepid description of the result. "George" is Miss Wylie's subconscious. But Alec was her father, and the most blistering part of her autobiography deals with him. If what she says is fact, and there is no reason to doubt it, Alec was probably the finest flower of the genus "cad." And the life Miss Wylie lived as a child must have been beyond words awful.

Alec was a waster. He married money only to run through it like the Broadway Limited runs through Indiana. Maud, one of his earlier wives, refused to divorce him, however, so the succession of fetes in Alec's life from that point on all highly respectable, were forced to live with him in hugely proper sin while he ruined them financially. Always I. A. R. was either watching the furniture people cart away unpaid-for things, or watching them bring them back. She was always hating Alec, because he was vicious of temper, wholly unreliable, without principle and irritatingly liable to lecture at the top of his lungs in favor of the Victorian code of conduct. He even drove away his faithful friend Christine—in fact, he knocked her out, one day.

Miss Wylie's book is the story of her emergence from the dust storm that was Alec—how she survived childhood in his house girlhood in some English and continental schools (tuition unpaid, how she determined to support herself and did just that. It is a shrewd and usually gay book, and if it takes the hide off Alec, it also skins its author on occasion.

Acropolis and Parthenon?

There is one other point that former tourists to Athens are wondering about. Will the Axis, raining bombs from the sky above Athens, blast the Acropolis and complete destruction of the Parthenon which was started by an Italian and a German just 253 years ago?

In 1867, the Doge, Morosini, and a German prince, laid siege to Athens, blew up the powder magazine in the Parthenon, and began the vandalism of Pericles' great masterpiece of Attic art, which eventually reduced it to its present state of ruin.

'PREP SCHOOL' FOR NEW DRAFT ARMY

—The Real McCoy Comes Last

DRAFTEE Peter Plink's spending a lot of time these days brushing up on that old song, "You're In The Army Now." It's a good idea except for one small catch—he won't really be in the army right away. There are two stops en route.

WHEN PETER'S "M" DAY comes, he'll entrain for a "reception center"—a sort of prep school where the first easy doses of toughening up are administered. There'll be vaccinations, all sorts of basic training, and many, many questions.

EVENTUALLY he will be classified—tabbed as suited for firing a machine gun or blowing a bugle. If there are vacancies he'll be sent to training camp. If not he'll check in temporarily at a "replacement center"—the army's personnel reservoir.

THE TRAINING CAMP—when Peter finally arrives—will be the real McCoy. He'll be expected to become a specialist in his branch of the service. And he can sing "You're In The Army Now," and really mean it and understand it.

Eat Your Fill of Turkey—Science Says OK

"Too Much Turkey"—An 1886 Artist's Warning

By JOHN GROVER
AP Feature Service Writer
Washington—Don't worry about over-eating on Thanksgiving. The public health service doesn't. Once it was thought doctors welcomed Thanksgiving because over-eating gave them so much business, but the health service rates the annual glutonny so slight a menace that no bulletins have ever been published about it.

Anyway, the pilgrim fathers wouldn't know the old holiday now—even the turkeys have changed. Turkeys of several generations ago were high as big as ostriches. Even after the assembled uncles and cousins and aunts had munched white meat until they were popeyed, there was always plenty left over, for hash.

Turkeys aren't so big now because the small ovens of modern apartment house ovens won't encompass such whopping fowl.

Turkey raisers, in cooperation with the department of agriculture, have "slimmed" the birds by selective breeding for small size. The average turkey now weighs between 11 and 14 pounds, compared to the 20 to 30-pound birds common in the past.

Mrs. Goodwife of 1640 would think the calendar had gone crazy if she could see the Thanksgiving table set by Mrs. 1940. She'd figure those Salem witches had something to do with May strawberries and fresh June peas on a late November menu.

Pilgrim cooks were limited to pumpkins, squashes, root vegetables that would "keep" and dried and canned fruits. The modern housewife, thanks to quick freezing, can have orchard-fresh fruits and vegetables, but even so Thanksgiving menus are getting smaller.

Great-grandma would have thought she set a bare table if she didn't serve several kinds of meat, half a dozen vegetables, a flock of different pickles and relishes and three or four kinds of dessert. Nowadays the tendency is to cut down the number of dishes and spend more time making them attractive and appetizing.

Cheats and Swings To Dance in City

Group Will Be Featured by Holland Society

Woodstock Cheats and Swings will dance for the Holland Society of New York on Thursday evening, November 14, at their annual banquet at the Hotel Plaza. The club will take four couples of square dancers and three musicians. They will be guests of the society for the reception and the banquet. The dancers and musicians will be garbed in Dutch Colonial costumes.

November 14 becomes for Cheats and Swings a red letter day inasmuch as that arch-protagonist of folk dancing, Henry Ford, and Mrs. Ford, will witness their efforts. Mr. Ford is receiving the Society's Gold Medal "for achievement in scientific manufacturing beneficial to all mankind."

Among the banqueters will be Dr. Alexander Loudon, Her Majesty's minister from the Netherlands and the consul general of The Netherlands at New York.

In the list of Ulsterites who are members of the Holland Society are found, among others, the names of Judge G. D. B. Hasbrouck, Philip Elting and Jay LeFevre.

The Cheats and Swings members making the trip are: Beatrice Reynolds, Hazel Park, Rose Petrucci, Dorothy Ball, Edith Cook, Roger Eltinge, Everard Short, Jack Greco and Dyrus Cook. Musicians: Michael Petrucci, Sanford O'Bryon and Sidney Smith.

Those present beside the guest of honor were: Mrs. Clifford Winchell, Mrs. Paul Schwark, Mrs. Robert Clark, Mrs. Gordon Clark, Mrs. Lillian Smith, Mrs. George Vincent, Jr., Mrs. Ray Burr, Mrs. George Vincent, Sr., of Port Ewen and Mrs. Floyd Light, Mrs. Beulah Light and Mrs. Mamie Eckert of West Park.

Christmas Toys
Port Ewen, Nov. 14—Boy Scouts of Troop 26 will again recondition toys and distribute them to the children of the surrounding territory at Christmas time. In previous years the boys have had many toys which they have reconditioned to look like new ones. Citizens of the village are requested to look over their toys and either leave them at the Reformed Church on Tuesday evenings or call Scoutmaster Francis E. Palen, Jr., 3935-R, before December 1.

Village Notes
Port Ewen, Nov. 14—Mrs. Leslie Munson, who has been visiting with her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Boyce and family, of Liberty, has returned home.

Mrs. Frank White entertained the members of her card club last evening.

The official board of the Methodist Church will meet this evening at 7:30 o'clock in the parsonage.

The senior choir of the Methodist Church will meet this evening. Troop 19, Girl Scouts, will meet tomorrow afternoon after school in the Reformed Church house.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Fire Co. will meet Monday evening at 8 o'clock in the fire house.

The Epworth League will hold a clam chowder sale tomorrow at the home of Mrs. Horace Woolsey.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Deane, Sr., called recently on Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fowler of Union Center.

The annual Red Cross Roll Call is now in progress. The Misses Betty Schweigel and Virginia Schmidt are canvassing the village.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Trinkle of Port Ewen called recently on Mrs. Mary E. Kelly of Union Center. The Public Health Nursing Committee of the town of Esopus will distribute used clothing and toys to needy families in the township. Such articles may be left with Mrs. William Schweigel on Hamilton street, or at the clinic rooms on Broadway.

MODENA

Modena, Nov. 14.—Mrs. Catherine Pitts, teacher in the Modena school is on the committee of P-T. A. members in charge of the spelling contest to be conducted Monday evening, November 18, at Wall Hill.

A social time was enjoyed, program of entertainment presented cake and tea served to members of the Modena Club, Friday afternoon in the Modena school. Those attending were Mrs. Jesse Sturmer, Mrs. Emory Ruger, Mrs. Lester Wager, Mrs. Earl DeWitt, Mrs. Harry Roosa, Mrs. Hallock Harris, Mrs. William Decker, Miss Beatrice Decker, Mrs. Floyd Wells, Mrs. Fred Bernard, Mrs. Richard Barclay, Mrs. Eber Coy, Mrs. Ernest Rappelyea, Mrs. Sime DuBois, Mrs. Wilbur Williams, Miss Mary Ellen Rich, Supervisor of Rural Education, of the New Paltz Normal, Miss Margaret Cook, principal, of Ardonia, Mrs. Catherine Pitts, teacher, of Newburgh, and Mr. Hopper, practice teacher were also present.

Miss Beatrice Ward, who has been spending some time at the home of her cousin, Mrs. Ralph Van Duzer at Sylva, has returned to her home here.

Mr. and Mrs. Hallock Harris and grandson, Floyd Paltridge, attended a birthday surprise party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Harris, at Clintondale, Saturday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Matthew Carman of Dwaarskill, were recent visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Archie Mackey.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gerow of New Paltz, were Sunday evening guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Wager and daughter.

Bernice Avery visited her cousin, Mary Lou DuBois, Saturday. Ruelle Ward and daughter, Beatrice, were among local people visiting Newburgh Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Black and daughter, Nancy, have returned to the Black home in Modena, from Mountain Rest, where they occupied a cottage for several months. Road machinery is being brought from sections of the town, preparatory to storage in the building recently purchased by the Town Board, from Joseph E. Hasbrouck.

A three-day session of Board meetings were held in the Town Clerk's office during the past week, to discuss plans and provisions for such action.

Mrs. Frank Black, recording secretary of the Ulster County W. C. T. U., attended an executive meeting of the unit at Mrs. Sarah Relyea's home in New Paltz, Wednesday. Plans were made at this time for entertaining the State convention to be held in Kingston in 1941.

At the current meeting of the Modena Methodist Sunday School Board, the office of superintendent, remained unfilled. A vacancy was caused by the departure from the village, of Frank E. Miller, acting superintendent.

Mr. and Mrs. George Winfield and son, former residents of this place, have moved from New Paltz to Butterville.

Members of the Modena 4-H Club, homemaking class, who attended Achievement Day program at Kingston Friday were: Ruth and Jean Arnold, Laura and Beatrice Brown, Verda and Arline Bernard, Norma, Jean and Marian Barclay, Roslyn DeWitt, Barbara DuBois, Lucille Doolittle, Helen Stewart, Louise Williams, Ellen Gerlach, Jean Wells. Modena members rated 100 per cent in their work projects for the year. Miss Margaret Cook or Ardonia, leader of the local unit, received the pins and certificate of achievement. Parents and friends, who accompanied club members to Kingston Friday were: Mr. and Mrs. Sime DuBois, and son, Robert, Mrs. Ross Brown, and son, LeRoy, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Barclay and daughter, Frances, Mr. John Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Wells and daughter, Elizabeth, Mrs. Jimmie Stewart, Mrs. Wilbur Williams and Mrs. Fred Bernard. The current meeting of the club will be held Saturday at Barbara DuBois's home.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Brown and family were out-of-town visitors, Sunday.

Mrs. Lester Wager and sons, Lester, Jr., and Ronald, visited relatives in Kingston Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmore Smith of Kingston were visitors here Sunday evening.

Harold Titus of Wallkill was in this section, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Rhinehart and daughter, Anita, of Poughkeepsie, were recent visitors in town.

Solie Bernard, Sr., of Walden, was in this place Wednesday.

Science Can Aid Sterile Couples, Doctors Told

Nearly half the childless couples who wish children can have them now after proper treatment, although 20 years ago only a half a dozen specialists were able to achieve 20 per cent success in treating sterility, it was reported to the section on urology of the American Medical association.

The importance of this advance, according to Dr. Samuel R. Meaker and Dr. Samuel N. Vose of the Boston university school of medicine, who prepared the paper in which the statement was made, is indicated in that more than 12 per cent of all marriages, or 2,000,000 American couples, are involuntarily childless.

One of the greatest advances in the diagnosis and treatment of sterility, the doctors said, was the realization that a number of factors usually are responsible for barrenness, and in 90 per cent of the cases these factors are divided between the husband and wife. Of the contributing factors now known, they said, about 30 per cent appear on the male side. But of 78 cases of divided responsibility studied the lack was equally divided in 51 cases and chiefly on the husband's side in 12 cases.

Among the causes of sterile factors in the male they listed poor general condition, body poisons resulting from disease, infections or other causes; weakness of the sex glands, and physical defects in the reproductive system. The last were most often the basic causes, they said.

Favorable results obtained by implanting pellets of synthetic hormones inside the male reproductive organs were described by Dr. Bernard Strauss and Dr. Gerson R. Biskind of San Francisco.

Heaven Not for White Man, Iroquois Believe

There is a belief among the Iroquois, that ancient American nation of hardy warriors, that no white man has ever entered heaven, except one. This exception was made to bestow upon a lone white man the greatest honor at the command of the Indian—that of inclusion in his religion.

Thus the Iroquois, who struck such terror to the hearts of our forefathers during the early days of our history, show their admiration and gratitude to one of their former enemies and greatest benefactors, Gen. George Washington.

By the peace of 1783, between England and the infant United States of America, the Iroquois were abandoned by their English allies and thrown upon the mercy of the Americans. At this critical moment, Washington intervened in their behalf, protected their rights and showed them such leniency and justice that the "Hedonosaunce" or Iroquois believed that for his kindness to the red man the Great Spirit prepared a celestial residence for him in their "Hawennnyu" where he is destined to remain through eternity in solitary enjoyment, for no other white man ever can enter the Indian heaven.

TILLSON

Tillson, Nov. 13 — Reformed Church, the Rev. B. H. Thaden, pastor. Usual services Sunday. Church service at 9:30 a. m. Mr. Thaden expects to preach. The pulpit last Sunday was occupied by the Rev. I. P. Emerick, the former pastor, as Mr. Thaden had a severe cold and the doctor had forbidden him to preach.

The Rev. Anson Coutant, pastor of the Friends' Church, expects to be back from Washington, D. C., and conduct services as usual next Sunday.

The Rev. and Mrs. Emerick attended the C. E. banquet at the First Dutch Church, Kingston, last Thursday night and heard Dr. Dan Poling speak.

The wife of the late Rev. Mr. Bader, once pastor of the Tillson Reformed Church, her sister, Lillian Cramer, and son, David, of Nutley, N. J., called on Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Demarest Sunday afternoon.

Monday being Armistice Day there was no school and the chil-

Miss Ruth Jansen spent the week-end with her parents at Lanesville.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin DeWitt called on Mrs. Will Deyo Monday. Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Greene and daughter, Barbara, motored to Long Island and spent the week-end with Mrs. Greene's sister, Mrs. Webster Crane.

Armistice Day was observed in the Reformed Church Sunday. A solo, "God Bless America," was sung by Mrs. Chauncey Rowe and other patriotic music was given by a large choir accompanied by Mrs. James Gallagher. In the absence of the pastor the Rev. I. P. Emerick preached.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Keator were spending a couple of weeks in Washington, D. C., visiting her daughter, Mrs. Fred Uhler, and family. Mr. Keator has returned but Mrs. Keator is staying for some time longer.

The annual Red Cross Roll Call is being held in Tillson by Mrs. D. D. Haines and Mrs. Jesse Gal-agher. The canvassing started November 11 and will continue until November 30. Tillson has given liberally to this cause and it is hoped for even larger contributions to this great American organization.

Taranto Affair Tells World That John Bull Has Mighty Arm

Bombing of Duce's Fleet Shows Value Of Plane Carriers

News Could Not Have Been Lost on Molotoff Nor Upon Turks; Japanese, Too, Have Ears

By FRED VANDERSCHMIDT
When Britain's Churchill said that the Taranto bombing of Italy's main battle fleet would have repercussions in naval affairs in every quarter of the globe, he was not exaggerating.

For it is more than a British naval victory, this reported crippling of half of Mussolini's hoarded battleships by Royal Navy bombers. It is above all evidence that Britain's superb fleet has an air arm which can strike with telling force in coordination with surface craft.

This becomes more obvious now that it is clear that the planes which bombed Taranto operated from two of Britain's remaining aircraft carriers. Incidentally, it is a vindication of this type of warship, which lost much prestige with the sinking, earlier in the war, of the British aircraft carriers Courageous and Glorious.

The importance of the discovery that the British navy can fight effectively from the sky as well as from the waves needs no underlining in this total war between two great air powers and one great sea power.

It is pertinent, however, to follow the ripples from Taranto to other parts of the world.

Not Lost Upon Molotoff

The news could not have been lost on M. Molotoff, Soviet commissar, who is on his way back home from Berlin today after having talked to Adolf Hitler, presumably concerning Germany's need for at least passive Russian support for a Balkan and Near East land stab intended to outflank the British fleet in the Far East.

The British, indeed, did their best to keep Stalin's premier aware of their growing air strength by giving Molotoff the first air raid experience of his life in Berlin last night.

Little is to be deduced from the German communiqué issued today, which says merely that the Molotoff-Hitler conferences "led to mutual accord" on the important things in which both Germany and Russia are interested. It could hardly have said less.

Turks Must Be Heartened

The Turks, moreover, must be heartened today by Taranto. It is the Turks who guard the Dardanelles and it is the Turks who hold the land bridge over which Germany may want to cross to the Near East and Suez. Taranto will stiffen the backs of the Turks and make it harder for Hitler to break their alliance with the British, even if Russia is willing to look the other way.

Taranto may have an effect even more immediate in the Far East.

The Japanese, new partners in Axis, are making military passes which indicate that they are about to penetrate to Sangan, at the tip of Indo-China, possibly in connection with Thai (Siam). That would put them on the flank of Singapore, Britain's great Far Eastern naval and air base, and it would put them in position to proceed to the Dutch East Indies.

But the British are sending Singapore an air marshal, the first

Supervisors Hold Short Session at Ulster Courthouse

Various Resolutions Are Presented; Ulster Gets $403.23 as Share of Mortgage Money

A short session of the Board of Supervisors was held Wednesday evening when resolutions from the previous session were called up and adopted. Twenty-seven supervisors were present.

The following resolutions calling for levies on towns and special districts were presented:

Supervisor Smith of Shandaken, that there be raised $100 in the town for cemetery care; $80 for public health clinic; $3,585 to pay bridge bonds and interest; $3,000 for welfare fund.

By Supervisor Wadlin of Lloyd, that there be raised on the town the sum of $1,000 for Highland library; $4,000 for welfare fund; $1,800 for public health nurse.

Supervisor Denniston of Gardiner, that there be raised on the town $50 for American Legion Post; $300 for welfare purposes.

By Supervisor Wadlin, that there be raised on the following special districts the following sums: Highland sewer district $2,500; Highland fire district $6,000; Highland light district $3,800; Lloyd protective fire district $1,100; Clintondale fire district $400.

Supervisor Roosa of Ulster, that there be raised on the town the sum of $1,075 to pay certificate and interest for voting machines; $10,242.84 certificate for work relief; $5,190.96 to pay certificate and interest for home relief; $200 for public health nurse committee; $1,200 for home relief; $5,675 to pay WPA bonds and interest.

Supervisor Denniston of Gardiner, that there be raised on the town the sum of $1,375 to pay certificate and interest for shovel.

Supervisor Haynes of Hardenbergh, that there be raised on the Hardenbergh-Middletown fire district the sum of $374.69.

Supervisor Smith of Shandaken offered a resolution that there be raised on the Phoenicia water district $4,000; Phoenicia light district $1,460; Phoenicia fire district $1,250; Chichester light district $450.

Supervisor Roosa of Ulster, that there be raised on the East Kingston light district the sum of $964.29.

Supervisor Denniston of Gardiner, that there be raised on the Gardiner fire district $500 and on Gardiner light district the sum of $320.

In the report of the distribution of mortgage tax money to the towns of the county the town of Ulster was apportioned the sum of $403.24.

of that branch to be chosen for such a post, to be their commander-in-chief in the Orient; to guard directly over Malaya, Burma, Hongkong and the British air forces of the east, and to work in coordination with British naval commanders in China and the East Indies and with the commander-in-chief of India.

The British also have sent new reinforcements eastward; they don't say what type, but it's a good bet that warships and planes are included.

Now comes Taranto to show Japan what a team the British navy and the fleet air arm can make—and Japan, too, has an untested, if powerful fleet.

Plea Is Made to Keep Nation Out of War; Grand Jury System Value Reported

A plea to use every effort to keep the United States out of the present World War, and the importance of the grand jury as a "shield for the innocent" were the themes of two addresses delivered at the annual banquet of the Grand Jurors Association of Ulster County held at the Golden Rule Inn on Wednesday evening.

Judge John E. Mack of Poughkeepsie and Major Arthur Callan, editor and publisher of the Chatham Courier of Columbia county, were the speakers of the evening.

Alderman Paul Zucca with his violin with Harry Maisenhelder at the piano furnished the musical portion of the evening's program and led the diners in singing some of the old songs. The banquet was staged in the large ballroom at the Golden Rule Inn.

The officers of the Grand Jurors Association are: President, M. F. Van Tassel of this city; vice president, Walter Margraff of Clintondale; secretary, Henry Macholdt of this city, and treasurer, Thomas J. Murphy of this city.

President Van Tassel presided and introduced District Attorney N. LeVan Haver who introduced Judge Mack, while Assistant District Attorney Fred Stang introduced Major Callan.

Judge Mack spoke at some length on the importance of the grand jury, and that it had been first formed as a bulwark to protect the people from oppression. The grand jury system, he said, had come into existence about the time that the Magna Charta was wrested from the King in England.

Judge Mack held that no law could be strictly enforced until it had the approval of the public behind it, and recalled the days of prohibition in Dutchess county when the grand jury filed a whole "flock of indictments" in which not a conviction was obtained. There were some cases he held in which a conviction could not be obtained and to indict and bring to trial was simply a waste of time and money.

The law after all, he said, was simply the written experience of the people. Judge Mack said that it was for the best interest of the country to have two major political parties who were about evenly balanced for then you have good government and this country is a better place to live in.

Judge Mack illustrated his points with a number of stories of cases that he had either tried or which had been tried before him when he was on the bench.

"You seldom make a mistake," said Judge Mack, "in following the advice of your district attorney, and it should never be forgotten that the job of a grand jury is to make Ulster county a better and safer place in which to live."

Grand juries, he said, should be a shield for the innocent and should stand for fearless enforcement of the law.

"Regards to Bill" District Attorney Haver called attention to the fact that William P. Glass, grand jury stenographer, who has been seriously ill in his home in Kingston, was slowly improving and was able to get about the house again.

On motion the association unanimously sent its regard to Mr. Glass, and instructed the secretary to write Mr. Glass to that effect.

Major Callan speaks Major Callan said that he had been studying the results of the recent election and saw some signs of the growth of a third political party in the vote cast by the American Labor party on November 5. Whether this shows the development of a third party movement he was not sure, but said that it was going to be interesting to watch.

The turn of the century he said had seen many changes in our mode of living with the development in the past 40 years of faster modes of transportation bringing with it demands for a better educational system and changes in our economic as well as social life.

Our highway systems, he said, had been developed with the advent of the automobile, and with the increased use of electricity, the telephone and production of the radio our ways of living had changed vastly from the days of 1900.

It has added to the complexity of life and brought increased responsibilities. He recalled the days of not so long ago when he campaigned for political office in Columbia county a horse and buggy, and that Judge Mack had done the same in Dutchess county.

Major Callan said that he had played a small part in the last World War and that since the close of the war he had acted as welfare officer in his county and had seen the after effects of the war on the men who had served overseas.

"Do all in your power as citizens of this great country to prevent our participation in the present war," he urged.

Major Callan foresaw that if the United States entered the present

Ulster Grand Jurors Hold Yearly Banquet

The Ulster County Grand Jurors' Association held its annual dinner last evening at Golden Rule Inn with more than 100 present. The two guest speakers for the evening were Major Albert Callan, editor and publisher of the Chatham Courier, and former Supreme Court Justice John E. Mack of Poughkeepsie. Left to right, seated, are: Judge John E. Mack, District Attorney N. LeVan Haver, M. F. Van Tassel, president of the association, and Assistant District Attorney Fred Stang. Standing in the same order are Walter Margraff, vice-president; Henry Macholdt, secretary; Major Albert Callan; and Thomas J. Murphy, treasurer.

AND NOW, OF ALL THINGS:

U. S. Weather Bureau's Own Party Might Be Spoiled by That Wet Thing They Call Rain

Washington, Nov. 14 (AP)—The United States Weather Bureau has waited for 52 years for a new home and now it looks as if the dedication ceremonies may be spoiled by—of all things—the weather.

Should it rain tomorrow—and rain is just what the weather man orders—officials frankly don't know what they'll do about the cornerstone-laying, it being a difficult feat to lay a cornerstone from the inside out.

There seems to be only two choices: Let all participating dignitaries get soaking wet. Postpone the ceremonies.

"We find ourselves," lamented one weather forecaster, "in the same predicament of the millions of Americans whose plans for picnics and outings have hinged on the whims of the elements."

For over a half century the bureau has been calling the turn on the nation's weather from a building which—so legend has it—was erected as a mid-Victorian love nest.

The story is that a wealthy Washingtonian of the early 80's put up the building for his ladylove, but she never learned to like the ugly red brick place.

In 1888 the government bought the heartbreak house for $150,000.

Search for Thief Lima, O. (AP)—Police are hunting a dirty but hardworking thief. He hauled nearly a ton of coal away from a dwelling with a wheelbarrow.

war it would mean that at the close of the war we would have a bankrupt nation; the manpower that would be lost could never be replaced; it would mean that an effort would be made to send an expeditionary force to France and that there would be grave doubt if our present form of government would survive participation in the war.

Major Callan said he was not talking as a pacifist and believed in national defense, but he saw no reason why the youths of the country should lay down their lives on foreign soil. He urged that the nation stay out of the war, but use every effort to preserve the national integrity; to retain our present form of government.

"Our future must be wrapped up inseparably with the welfare of the United States," he said in closing.

Royalty Is Present At Historic Abbey Chamberlain Rites

Ashes of Former Prime Minister Buried Beneath Stone Floor; Canterbury Offers Final Prayer

London, Nov. 14 (AP)—The ashes of former Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain were buried today beneath the grey stone floor of the nave of Westminster Abbey, resting place of many of Britain's historic figures.

Representatives of the royal family and members of the British cabinet attended the ceremony, the Anglican Church burial service.

The 40-minute memorial rites were carried out in an atmosphere of peace and serenity despite the persistent air raids which Chamberlain had been unable to prevent.

At the close of the ceremony, Mr. Chamberlain, heavily veiled, knelt on the floor, took chrysanthemum petals from her handbag and dropped them into the two-foot square, purple-lined crypt.

Prime Minister Churchill, clad in a long black coat with an Astrakhan collar, stood intent among his cabinet ministers throughout the service at the graveside.

The Duke of Gloucester, brother of King George VI, represented the royal family. Mrs. Chamberlain curtsied when he shook hands and murmured his sympathies.

The archbishop of Canterbury offered the final prayer.

Red Star Says Molotoff Visit May Result in Improved Relations

Soviet Newspaper Says Most Important Act of Recent Weeks Is Berlin Parley

Moscow, Nov. 14 (AP)—Red Star, Soviet army organ, said today the visit to Berlin of Premier-Foreign Commissar Vyacheslav Molotoff would bring "a strengthening and development of Soviet-German relations in the interests of both countries."

This was the first Soviet comment on the premier's trip since a communique on November 9 announced his acceptance of the German invitation to visit Berlin.

The newspaper, reviewing political developments, said: "The most important recent event is Molotoff's trip to Berlin. Conversations which are now taking place between Molotoff and leaders of the German government are the center of attention of the entire world press."

"German and Italian newspapers emphasize that Molotoff's trip is an event of first-rate political significance. There is no doubt that the renewal of personal contact and a friendly exchange of opinions with leaders of German policy will make for further strengthening and development of Soviet-German relations in the interests of both countries."

Red Star also included a review of the American election, seeing no change in United States policy following Roosevelt's victory.

KIDNEYS MUST REMOVE EXCESS ACIDS

Help 15 Miles of Kidney Tubes Flush Out Poisonous Waste

If you have an excess of acids in your blood, your 15 miles of kidney tubes may be overworked. These tiny filters and tubes are working day and night to help Nature rid your system of excess acids and poisonous waste.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Commencement of Kingston Hospital Nurses on Friday

The board of managers, through its secretary, the Rev. Frank B. Seeley, were fortunate in being able to arrange for Dr. Norman V. Peele, pastor of the Marble Collegiate Church of New York city, to be the speaker at the commencement exercises of the Kingston Hospital School of Nursing Friday evening at the Kingston High School auditorium at 8:30 o'clock.

Dr. Peele is an outstanding speaker and has given considerable time to public affairs aside from his regular duties.

It was thought advisable, in addition to inviting the relatives and friends of the graduates, to invite the public to attend these exercises. The hospital will be represented by its board of managers, representatives of the medical and surgical staff, graduate nurses, and nurses in training.

Removal of Tonsils Held

Needless in Many Cases

Dr. Albert D. Kaiser of Rochester, N. Y., told pediatricians of the American Medical Association recently that tonsils were not as great a menace to a child as had been suggested frequently and in many cases were operated on for no good reason. From the study of 4,400 children over a period of 10 years he reached the conclusion that the practice of removing tonsils and adenoids automatically, which has resulted in tonsillectomies on almost 50 per cent of the urban children in the United States and England, was without foundation.

Dr. Kaiser said that the common cold, with its unpleasant complications, had influenced physicians and parents frequently to remove tonsils and adenoids hoping that fewer colds would develop. His findings, however, failed to show the validity of this. While the children who had been operated on, one half of the total number, had fewer colds in the first three years, they actually had more colds in the next seven.

"It is quite likely," he explained, "that the removal of the adenoids benefited younger children but as the children advanced in years the adenoid tissue retrograded so that the unoperated children were like-wise benefited."

Dr. Archibald L. Hayne of Chicago, one of several who joined in a panel on contagious diseases at the meeting, recommended a combination of antitoxin and sulfanilamide in the treatment of epidemic meningitis.

He expressed the opinion that there had been too much anxiety regarding spinal fluid in the disease and not enough consideration of the condition of the patient. Good results could be obtained, he said, by injection of the combination serum into the veins without attempting to release the fluid.

Mrs. Grover Smith asks all those who hold the Sunshine bags for the Reformed Ladies' Aid to turn them in at the next meeting.

FAT GIRLS Here's A Tip For You

All over America Kruschen Salts is appealing to girls and women who strive for an attractive, free-from-fat figure that seldom fails to win admiration.

Every morning take ½ teaspoonful of Kruschen Salts in a glass of hot water before breakfast; cut out pastries and fatty meats—go light on potatoes, butter, cream and sugar—that's all. Do this every morning. In three weeks get on the scales and note how many pounds of fat have vanished. Notice also that you've gained in energy, your skin seems clearer, your eyes sparkle with more glorious health—you feel younger in body, keener in mind.

Leading druggists America over sell Kruschen Salts, plain or new effervescent-sparkling—pleasant. You can always get it at United Cut Rate Pharmacy. Try one bottle; lasts 4 weeks and costs but little. If not supremely satisfied, money back.

Electric Bicycle
Paris (AP)—A bicycle powered with a storage battery motor is the latest contribution to the transportation problem here.

The motor, placed on the front wheel, gears directly to the rear wheel and the whole outfit weighs about 15 pounds. The inventor believes it will maintain a speed of about 16 miles an hour. Batteries may be electrically recharged at home at a cost of one cent and can be used for 10,000 miles.

SHE REALLY ENJOYS BAKING...

with Pillsbury's Best.
Won't YOU try it?

"NO OTHER FLOUR COMPARES WITH PILLSBURY'S BEST."

says Mrs. James Perkins of Cleveland

"My grandmother used it... and my mother used it... and now I use it. I've always known about Pillsbury's Best Flour and the good things it makes.

"I bake bread, rolls, biscuits, cakes, and pies, and everything is so tasty. My bread and rolls are light and fine-grained... cakes are tender, and pie crust flaky. I like Pillsbury's Best Flour for all uses. No other flour compares with it."

Why is it more FUN to bake with Pillsbury's Best?

Have you ever baked with a flour that never seemed to work just right, no matter what you did? We have, when we've been testing wheat. But we never buy that kind of wheat for Pillsbury's Best Flour. We spend thousands of dollars extra every year to get the finest wheats to go into Pillsbury's Best—to get the kinds of wheats that are natural "good bakers." Then we blend those wheats, to make a perfect all-purpose flour—and test the flour every hour during the milling process to make sure it's always the same—always dependable.

People tell us Pillsbury's Best is very "easy to handle." We think you'll have more fun baking with Pillsbury's Best Flour!

Phoenicia, Nov. 13—Mr. and Mrs. J. Lachman are now at Florida for the winter.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Ennist have moved from the Shurter house on Church street to Fleischmanns where Mr. Ennist is station agent.

Mr. and Mrs. T. J. McGrath of Rensselaer were here over the week-end. While here they negotiated with an out-of-town party for the rental of the Sheridan on the Chichester road. Catherine will remain with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Clancy, and finish her last year at Fleischmanns High School.

H. Boice was a visitor on High street during the week.

Nellie Peck is doing nicely after an operation for appendicitis at the hospital.

Mrs. Gladys Hilson Soules is spending a few days away.

Marilyn Gale of Albany visited her people here over the Armistice Day holiday.

Mr. and Mrs. Otto Drescher, who rented one of the Breithaupt houses on Church street, have returned to their home in Mt. Pleasant.

M. Hasbrouck of Mt. Pleasant was a caller during the week.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Short are spending some time in Michigan where Mrs. Short is visiting her relatives.

Mrs. Mary Gross and Mrs. Sadie Brown spent two days in New York recently.

Decorate Rooms With Gay Easily-Grown Plants

Enjoy Greenery, Flowers

What a rapturous tonic against winter gloom — graceful greenery glimpsed through a doorway, sturdy cheerful plants brightening an otherwise dull corner.

You have only to know a little about plant-raising to create such pictures anywhere in your home.

Even where there's not much sunlight you can group in bracket pots a plummy fern, trailing grape ivy, periwinkle with its dainty blue flowers.

Of the same obliging nature is the rubber plant. The majestic variety with fiddle-shaped leaves is especially handsome, gives a decorative life to a cheerless spot.

There are gorgeously blooming plants, too, for that coolish North window — the cineraria, for instance. Gives it plenty of water — but not on its leaves — and for weeks this Winter it will reward you with deep pink or purple blooms.

Then did you know what charming things you can do with plants grown in water? Chinese evergreen is striking in a bowl on your dinner table.

Brighten your home with easy-to-raise plants. Our 32-page booklet tells how to grow favorite flowering and foliage plants, ferns, bulbs, vines. Gives pointers on raising plants, flowers in water; has tips on watering, repotting.

Send 10c in coin for your copy of MAKING PLANTS AND FLOWERS GROW INDOORS to Kingston Daily Freeman, Home Service, 635 Sixth Ave., New York N. Y. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, and the NAME of booklet.

I COULD GIVE MYSELF A GOOD... SWIFT... KICK...!

1. I MEAN IT... because I've certainly been a "feather-brain", up to now! For ages, people have been telling me how I could save money by buying GOOD LUCK Margarine instead of the spread we've been using for bread! Well, I finally woke up... And today...

2. YOU SHOULD HEAR my husband and youngsters go on about the marvelous, fresh, country flavor of GOOD LUCK. It's simply grand... and it's grand for them, because GOOD LUCK is filled with food-energy, plus plenty of health-giving Vitamin A. GOOD LUCK's goodness, you see, is natural... its freshness is guaranteed by dating, on every package. No other spread, at any cost, has that "Dated-for-Freshness" guarantee!

3. BUT WHY WAIT until you feel like kicking yourself... as I did! Get a pound of GOOD LUCK tomorrow. It's the most wonderful spread you've ever tasted. And when you use it for cooking and baking, you'll think you're THE home-economics expert of the town! Last—but far from least—think, THINK, of the savings you can show your husband when he foots the bills.

GOOD LUCK is UNCONDITIONALLY guaranteed to give complete satisfaction... or your money back

"EVEN WITH A CAR TO HELP WITH ERRANDS I COULDN'T DO WITHOUT OUR Telephone"

"Even though we do cover a good many miles by car, you'd be surprised how many trips I save myself by using the 'phone."

"For instance, when I have errands to do and the weather's bad—or my shopping list is a mile long. Or when I've got to see the dentist at 1:30—and have a hundred and one things to do in the meanwhile. Or when I want to say 'hello' to mother—but can't take the time for the trip over there—why I just reach for my telephone."

No doubt about it, women who use the telephone more have extra time for things they really enjoy doing. That's why so many busy women say they couldn't get along without their telephones.

No wonder that more than 95 million telephone calls are made in the United States every day! New York Telephone Company.

Who Killed Aunt Maggie?

By MEDORA FIELD

YESTERDAY: Sally and her husband, Bill, are giving a week end party at their country house near Atlanta to celebrate the engagement of two friends, Bob and Claire. But Aunt Maggie crashed the party, and so did Eve, who had tried hard to win Bob from Claire. And now the house is a tangle of terror, because Sally just has found Aunt Maggie, choked to death in the back hall.

Chapter Eight

The Grip Of Fear

I TRIED to tell myself that Eve was desperately unhappy and that this was what made her lash out at people. And that she was unhappy because she either didn't know what she wanted or, perhaps, didn't realize what she wanted until it belonged to someone else. But, anyway, it would not mend matters for me to lose my head. And there was no gain-saying the fact that she was right about the unhappy consequences which must follow in the wake of murder.

So I said, "Bob, don't you think it would be a good idea to get Alice a sip of brandy? Will anyone else have a drink?"

Bob brought in a decanter and glasses from the dining room and both Alice and Eve took the small drinks offered. After which he doled out two quite large ones himself. "And now if you girls will excuse me a moment," he said. "I'll go upstairs and get my pipe."

"Hurry back," Alice told him, obviously braced by the brandy.

"That awful pipe," Eve chided. "Hasn't Claire made you throw it away yet?"

Bob pretended not to hear as he passed through the doorway, and we all settled down in silent gloom before the fire. Claire lit a cigarette and it was then I noticed where Eve had tossed several half-smoked ones to the hearth, their tips smeared with lipstick. There were plenty of ash trays about and, although I knew her carelessness was due to nervousness under the circumstances, it did bring back Aunt Maggie's remark about the impossibility of being what she called "well born" at the age of thirty.

And that made me think of something else. Of Eve's threat when Aunt Maggie spoke of going to Eve's divorced husband. And of their later passionate arms in the library. Yet I believed at the time and I believed now that Eve had not meant her threat literally.

And so we sat and stared into the fire.

"Golly," Eve ejaculated finally, "what a pleasant little party this turned out to be!"

It was on the tip of my tongue to remind her that she had invited her, but I decided again that we had enough trouble on hand without letting Eve stir up more. From the way Alice looked at her, I knew she also would like to tell Eve this and plenty besides. But she restrained herself and, shivering slightly, inquired instead, "Who doesn't Bob come back?"

It didn't seem that Bob had been gone rather longer than his errand required, but just as I was about to say that he no doubt would be along in a moment, every light in the house went out, plunging the library into darkness relieved only by the glow of the coals in the fireplace.

"Alice screamed, Eve said, 'Damn,' and Claire and I both reaching out to clasp hands with Alice, found that our own hands had come together instead.

"There are matches on the table," I said, groping for them in the darkness. As I lit the candles on the mantel and table and secretary to flickering flames, Eve stirred up the coals and put another log on the fire.

Light At Last

"WHAT the devil do you suppose has happened now?" she asked.

"It's the murderer," Alice whimpered. "We'll all have our heads cut off."

Well, that's no reason why we should lose them beforehand, answered Eve. "Anyway, it is probably only this damned storm."

"Yes," I hastened to agree. "Of course, it is the storm. I don't suppose Bob will ever be able to find his way down from upstairs. After this I shall certainly provide flashlights for every room."

Eve smiled one of her cryptic smiles and said nothing; but I gathered that what I did about flashlights in the future was of small interest to her, as she obviously did not intend to be among those present.

"You can call it the storm, if you like," Alice quavered, "but after all, Aunt Maggie was murdered. Then there's the telephone. And now the lights."

And there is still more that you don't know about, I thought, as Kirk and Bill came in through the dining-room door, Bill carrying one of the big silver candlesticks from the dining room, which he carefully deposited beside the candlesticks on the secretary.

"I've told Andrew to take the station wagon and go to Roswell and report what has happened," he said. "It seemed the most practical thing to do. I knew we would all feel better when somebody from the outside could take the situation in hand."

"Bessie insists that she is going with Andrew," Kirk observed. "And on a night like this. There's marital devotion for you."

"That's not consideration for Andrew," said Bill, dryly. "Bessie's scared to stay alone in the servants' house."

To me there didn't seem anything so strange about Bessie's timidity. I didn't want to be alone anywhere myself right then. That made me think of Bob. "I suspect you had better rescue Bob," I told Bill. "He's probably wandering around upstairs like a lost soul in the outer darkness."

But Bob himself appeared just then, having had matches in his pocket, and having located his bedside candle, as he explained. "Didn't I hear you say you had sent Andrew to Roswell?" he asked Bill.

At Bill's assent Bob seemed to hesitate, as though he wished to say something but feared to offend. "You don't seem to approve," Eve remarked. "Any suggestions?"

"No, no," Bob hastened to reply. "Only had anybody thought that we have sent away the two people who were nearest the scene at the time of the crime?"

"You're barking up the wrong tree there, old man," Bill assured him. "We've had Bessie and Andrew ever since we were married and, while that may not be a lifetime, Bessie's mother, who died a year or so ago, was Aunt Ann's cook for thirty years."

"Longer than that," I said. "Your Aunt Ann says she practically raised Bessie."

"There you go. Talking just like Aunt Maggie," Eve cut in. "Family, family, family. After all, it is possible for murderers to have parents just the same as anyone else."

"But it is silly to suspect Andrew or Bessie," Claire chimed in. "After all, if that had been their intention, they had plenty of opportunity last night when they were all out here alone."

"Still," Bob argued, "we might as well face it. Somebody who was in the house at the time has to be guilty. And if not the servants—"

"Then the guests," Eve finished for him.

"Or some outsider," I suggested.

"That's a thought," Bob agreed. "And this outsider may still be inside."

"That's what I've been thinking all the time," wailed Alice. "We'll search the place," said Bill, determinedly.

"But I don't want to be left alone," Alice wailed again.

Flat Tires

AT THAT moment Andrew appeared in the doorway. "Mr. Bill, sir," he announced when all eyes were turned upon him, "I done had a accident."

"Accident?" we all echoed. "What do you mean, accident?" Bill demanded.

"Yes, sir, Mr. Bill. First I find a flat tire. I done use the spare this afternoon so I have to pump it up. Then when I get it changed and Bessie and me are going out the gate, just as we get to where the road been worked on, we skid and run into a tree. I tried and I tried, but I can't get that engine started up again. What I come to ask now is, can I use your car, Mr. Bill, or yet Miss Sally's?"

I dunno whether I get any farther'n I did the first time, but I try if you say the word. That road's mighty bad. Yes, sir, mighty bad. And it ain't stopped raining one minute since it start up this afternoon."

"Well," said Bill, "we've got to get word to Roswell, somehow. I hate to make you try it on a night like this and over the road, but I suppose you will just have to take my car and see what you can do. It's too bad we have no tire chains."

"Yes, sir, Mr. Bill, thank you, sir," said Andrew and was gone. "How about that search party?" asked Kirk. "If the girls don't want to be left alone, suppose we divide into two groups, one of us starting in the basement, the other on the top floor and meeting on the second floor."

"Good," said Bill. "Let's all be sure we have plenty of matches. Carry our candles go out. By the way, Sally, isn't there a flashlight here somewhere?"

"There's one in the compartment of my car," I answered, hoping there was. "And Andrew probably has one in the station wagon."

"I'll tell him to bring one in before he gets away," said Bill, going back toward the kitchen. "You know, that's a funny thing," he said, when he came back. "My car had a flat, too. Andrew's changing it now. I suppose it must have been all those workmen we had out here. Don't see any point in leaving nails around though."

For our search, which finally got under way, Bill and Eve and Claire decided to start from the basement, while the rest of us climbed to the third floor. I don't think Claire was very keen about going with Eve, but Alice went on sticking close to Bob and I somehow couldn't bring myself to face that back passage just then.

In the study I noticed the paper which had been propped against the inkwell was there no longer.

It Doesn't Take Much

Every man and woman dreams of doing some great deed that will make others happy—leading a crusade, giving an address, writing a book. We dream of the big things and often fail to do the little things. We let slip by hundreds of little opportunities to spread happiness and cheer.

In an inspiring poem, Lois Snell suggests some of the little things we can do each day to make this world a more joyous place to live in:

He stopped to pat a small dog's head—a tiny thing to do. And yet the dog remembering, was glad the whole day through. He gave a rose into the hand of one who loved it much; 'Twas just a rose—but, oh, the joy that lay in its soft touch!

He spoke a word so tenderly—a word's a word, small thing. And yet it stirred a weary heart to hope again, and sing!

Sympathizer—Poor little fellow! Where did that cruel boy hit you? Little Boy—Boo, hoo! We was havin' a naval battle—and he torpedoed me in the engine room.

"I was trained from the beginning to work, to save, and to give,"—John D. Rockefeller, Jr.

Mother—Dorothy, don't you know that it is not proper for a young lady to turn around on the street and look at a strange young man?

Dorothy—But, Mother, I was only looking to see if he was looking to see if I was looking to see if he turned around to see.

We like to see fat people laugh, because there seems to be so much of them having a good time.

Mr. Newlywed—Aren't those eggs done yet? Mrs. Newlywed—No, dear, I've boiled them over two hours and they aren't soft yet.

If you cannot win, make the one ahead break the record.

Amos—I hear Fred is taking a long voyage to South American. Did his doctor order it? Josh—No; his lawyer.

Divine Love
Love is the liberator.
Love dwells right here;
Love is the demonstrator.
Love casts out fear.

Love divine law fulfills,
Love makes sin flee;
Love cures our human ills,
Love sets us free.

Love inspires, illuminates,
Love heals today;
Love clearly designates,
Love leads the way.

Love flows to all mankind,
Love is a stream;
Love will our chains unbind,
Love is supreme.

Love begets holiness,
Love is a call;
Love gently comes to bliss,
Love is for all.

—Grenville Kleiser

Mr. Spencer—How did the Dulan wedding come off?

Mrs. Spencer—Fine until the minister asked the bride if she would obey her husband.

Mr. Spencer—What happened then?

Mrs. Spencer—She replied: 'Do you think I'm crazy? Then the groom, who was in sort of a daze, answered: 'I do.'

When a man starts to turn gray his wife usually will tell the neighbors it was due to his heavy business cares.

Jenkins—How much of your salary do you take home to your wife on pay day?

Simpson—None of it. Jenkins—How's that?

Simpson—She meets me outside the office and takes it home herself.

City Moose Lodge Praised for Gift Toward Stadium

Kingston Lodge, 970, Loyal Order of Moose has recently been praised by the Supreme Lodge for its contribution to the erection of the Mooseheart athletic stadium.

It was dedicated with patriotic music, fitting ceremony and much oratory Saturday afternoon, September 28. It is 251 feet long, 60 feet wide, and 45 feet high; seats 3,310 people, cost $75,000 to build and before an audience of 5,000 or more emotionally-excited people—most of them Moose—was christened the Illinois Memorial Stadium, because the Moose Association of the state sponsored it. Senator James J. Davis accepted this gift in the name of the order. Following the dramatic fanfare of dedication, the Mooseheart football team defeated Champaign by the score, 12-0.

The stadium is a most worthy contribution to the many other fine modern facilities at Mooseheart and is another milestone in the advancement of character and physical building of the youth of today. Since its inception on July 27, 1913, by James J. Davis, Mooseheart has steadily added to its vast resources. At the present time it is an estate of 1,200 acres, 35 miles west of Chicago.

It is a home and school for more than 1,000 normal, dependent children of deceased members of the order. In less than a quarter of a century Mooseheart has grown and more than $20,000,000 has been expended in the development, maintenance and operation. The educational concept of Mooseheart is to take full account of the needs and capacities of the individual child and fit instruction to that individual, to the end that he may best adjust himself to a complex, changing social and physical environment. Both academic and vocational guidance are given to the children.

Instruction in more than 25 trades is included in the curriculum. Mooseheart's methods have been written into the laws of our federal, state and local governments. They have been adopted in many primary schools of the civilized world and the order has maintained the highest health record of any other institution of its kind.

RESCUED FROM GROUND FREIGHTER

Warming up on rum and coffee in the Coast Guard Station at Pentwater, Mich., are these three seamen after they were rescued from the grounded freighter Novadoc. They were among the 17 rescued after 24 hours aboard the stranded vessel. Left to right: Fred Chessell, Collingwood, Ont.; Alec Ban-chett, Loutbincere, Que.; and Dick Simpall, Midland, Ont.

MARLBOROUGH

Marlborough, Nov. 14—Mr. and Mrs. William Rall and daughter, Joan, of Long Island spent the week-end and holiday at the home of Mr. Rall's mother, Mrs. Katherine Rall and Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Mertes of the South road.

Miss Felicia Cutrone and brother, James Cutrone have returned home from Fairview, N. J., where they attended the wedding of their cousin.

The regular meeting of the Catholic Daughters will be held in their club rooms in St. Mary's Church Thursday evening at 8 o'clock.

Lyman DuBois is ill in his home on Church street.

Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Mertes entertained several of their friends from Long Island over the holiday week-end.

Miss Loretta Berkery of New York spent the week-end and holiday with her mother, Mrs. Michael Berkery.

Miss Ethel Rusk of New York spent the week-end and holiday at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Rusk, Sr.

Miss Mary Zimmerman spent the week-end with her grandmother, Mrs. Mary Steinback on West street, returning to her home in Newburgh on Monday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Meddaugh and son, Edward, of Newburgh spent Friday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Marcks.

Genevieve Affuso entertained 20 of her friends and schoolmates Friday afternoon and evening with a party in her home on Western avenue, in celebration of her birthday.

Miss Muriel Rall, second grade teacher in the local school was absent for a day last week due to illness. Mrs. John Quimby substituted in her place.

Mr. and Mrs. John Gable are entertaining Mrs. Gable's father, Fred Ives of Pottstown for an indefinite visit.

The house and lot of the late Lizzie Williams on Western avenue, recently purchased by Mrs. Bart McGowan and later sold to Lugi Buccieri is having a new driveway built from the Buccieri land in back to the lot to Western avenue, where it will connect with the main road.

Vernon Meyers is ill at his home on the Ridge Road.

Mr. and Mrs. Perry Mullins recently entertained Mr. and Mrs. Patrick McCristal of Wassau.

Misses Mildred Kirkland and Jean Hansford of Newark were recent guests of Mrs. Grace Graves.

The annual Red Cross drive began in the Town of Marlborough Armistice Day, Mrs. A. Stuart Ferguson is chairman in the Marlborough end of the village and Miss Minna Strohman is taking care of the Milton end. Volunteer workers who are assisting Mrs. Ferguson in Marlborough are Mrs. Clara Selden, Miss Jane Flannery, Miss Emily Pattison, Mrs. Frank Pembroke, Mrs. Edmund Shortt, Miss Ruth Norton, Mrs. Anna McConnell and Mrs. Malcolm Dunlop.

A group of Milton women will assist Miss Strohman in her district.

There was a good attendance at the annual Community Day exercises held in the auditorium of the Marlborough Central High School on Monday evening with the program beginning at 7:30 o'clock. The Rev. Ralph Reed, chaplain at Mitchell Field, L. I., delivered the main speech of the evening. Presentation of Colors was by members of the Charles Vieby Post, American Legion; instrumental selections by the Central School band, invocation by the Rev. Allan T. Dodge, pastor of the Marlborough and Middle Hope Methodist Churches, and three vocal selections by the members of the Milton Choral Club; community singing of patriotic songs, benediction by the Rev. J. C. Codrington, pastor of the Milton Methodist Church, closing with the community singing of "The Star Spangled Banner". The program was arranged by a committee of the Community Council of Marlborough, Miss Muriel Rall was chairman of the committee assisting her were the Rev. Claude McIntosh of Marlborough, Mrs. Edgar M. Clarke of Lattintown and Mrs. Ernest Bell of Milton.

The local firemen were called out Friday evening to a slight fire in the chimney of John Downer of the Lattintown Road and on Monday afternoon to the Berkery home where a small chimney fire was soon under control.

George Rusk has returned to his home on the North Road from St. Luke's Hospital, Newburgh where he underwent an operation recently.

Struck Deer
Lester F. Tubby of 148 East Chester street, reported to the sheriff's office Tuesday night that he had struck a young deer on Route 9-W near the Col. Payne hill. Tubby said that the deer ran off, apparently not seriously injured.

Traffic Cop Knows
Topeka, Kas. (AP)—If you have trouble remembering your license number you'll appreciate the accomplishment of Patrolman Bill Curry. He knows the license numbers and names of at least 1,000 drivers. Curry keeps tab on parking downtown. He knows from memory where a car was when he chalked the tire and whether it has been moved. It takes him about a month to memorize numbers at the end of the year.

Parent-Teacher Ass'n

School No. 8

The regular monthly meeting of the Parent-Teacher Association of School No. 8 was held Tuesday afternoon at 3:30 o'clock. The meeting was opened by a flag salute and the singing of "God Bless America." Miss Lena Elmendorf assisted at the piano.

The president, Mrs. Arthur Nash, announced that the opera, "Hansel and Gretel," which is to be given by the school children, will be presented Monday and Tuesday evenings, November 18 and 19. Tickets may be purchased from the children or at the school.

No. 8 School will broadcast over WKNY Saturday, November 16, at 11:15 a. m. Mrs. A. J. Laidlaw and Martin Friedman will be the speakers.

The president introduced the city librarian, Miss Sarah Townsend, who gave an interesting talk on "Happiness in Reading." Miss Townsend brought several books with her to encourage children to read.

The second speaker, the grade supervisor, Mrs. Warren, gave an excellent talk on "What the Grade Supervisor Means to the School Superintendent." Mrs. Warren pointed out the duties of a supervisor and showed clearly how she helps teacher and child to carry out the philosophy of the school superintendent.

After the meeting very tasty sandwiches and punch were served. The hostesses were Mrs. D. Myers and Mrs. H. Millonig.

They Slept Indoors

London, Nov. 13 (AP)—The members of one London family are alive today because they were so "fed up" with dampness in their private, backyard air raid shelter they decided to sleep in their house last night. During the night, a German bomb scored a direct hit on their shelter, destroying it.

Animals Poisoned

That a dog poisoner is at work in North Rondout is shown by a report made to the police department Tuesday by Henry Bunce of 186 Third avenue, who reported that his dog had been poisoned and that two cats owned in the neighborhood, had met a similar fate.

Changes Offices

Lloyd R. LeFever, who has oc-

Detroit—Many of a group of more than four score students and instructors of the Highland Park High School in Detroit had their first "close-up" of railway facilities and equipment here recently when they inspected coaches, parlor cars, engines and other facilities of the Grand Trunk-Canadian National Railways in Detroit. Several of the students in the motor city saw the interior of a modern parlor car for the first time in their lives when they inspected one of the new Canadian National cars operated between Detroit and Toronto.

Plane Companies Asked to Include Kingston in Plans

Efforts to contact aeroplane manufacturing companies which may be involved in expansion programs and desirous of securing additional plant locations, have been made by the Kingston Industrial Bureau, Allan L. Hainstein, president of the bureau, said today.

All of the aeroplane manufacturers have been contacted through the Industrial Bureau in an effort to secure for this city consideration in the event of plant expansion. With many of the large manufacturing concerns now engaged in expansion programs to meet the increased demand for planes, new sites may be required and the local industrial bureau has taken every step to call to the attention of aeroplane manufacturers the desirability and the facilities of this city.

With rail and water transportation available as well as vast level areas suitable for air transportation, members of the Industrial Bureau have sought to acquaint plane manufacturing concerns with the desirability of locating here when and if plant expansion is desired. Practically all of the major concerns in the business have been communicated with.

Lothian Is Returning

London, Nov. 14 (AP)—Lord Lothian, British ambassador to the United States, left London today to return to Washington, where he was expected to confer on British-American problems in the Pacific. In Lisbon, where he will take a clipper plane, he is expected to meet Sir Samuel Hoare, British ambassador to Spain. While here, he conferred with King George, Prime Minister Churchill and other members of the government, and inspected bombed areas.

MOLOTOFF AND HITLER IN LENGTHY CONFERENCE

In an atmosphere of secrecy, Soviet Premier Vyacheslav Molotov (left) and Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler (right) conferred for several hours in Berlin, presumably on the subject of evolving in collaboration with Italy and Japan. In the center is an interpreter, necessary because neither Molotov nor Hitler speaks the other's language. (Picture by radio from Berlin to New York.)

Local Death Record

Funeral services of Edward James Van Vleet of 162 Clinton avenue were held Wednesday afternoon from the W. N. Conner Funeral Home, the Rev. Frank B. Seeley officiating. Bearers were Harold Walker, Philip D. Palmer, Ralph Van Vleet and Rufus Keller. Burial in the Jefferson Rural Cemetery, Catskill.

Anna May More Lounsbury, wife of Herbert S. Lounsbury, Cohoes, died in the Cohoes Hospital Wednesday. Funeral services will be held at the residence of her sister, Miss Ella More, 107 St. James street, Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. The deceased was survived by her husband, Herbert S. Lounsbury, son, Herbert S. Jr., of Albany; four sisters, Ella More, this city; Edith, wife of Harry R. LeFever; Jane More, this city; and Marguerite, wife of B. J. Winne, Kingston; a brother, Charles E. More, of New York city, and two grandsons.

Mrs. Emily J. Wood, widow of Byron Wood, died Wednesday at her home in Kripplush after a long illness. She was the daughter of the late Jacob C. and Sarah C. Osterhoudt Buntin. The deceased was born in the Town of Rochester and was 81 years of age at the time of her death. Mrs. Wood had lived in Kripplush for more than 43 years and was well liked. The deceased attended the Methodist Church. Funeral services will be held at her late home in Kripplush Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Burial will be in the Fairview Cemetery in Stone Ridge. The Rev. Fred G. Baker, pastor of the Stone Ridge Methodist Church will officiate. Surviving are four sons, Edward D. Wood of Poughkeepsie, Ravonne L. Cullen of Philadelphia, Pa.; Mrs. George Thombland of St. Petersburg, Fla.; and Mrs. William S. McDonough of Stone Ridge. Also seven grandchildren and three great grandchildren and a half-brother, Edward Davis.

Charles Knego, a well known and highly respected citizen of this city, died last evening following a long illness. He had lived in this city for 27 years and had long been a faithful employee of the New York Central Railroad, retiring about three years ago. He was a devoted husband and father and always ready to assist anyone in sickness or trouble, thereby earning himself to a very large circle of friends. Fraternally he was a member of the Society of Slovenian Jug; United Serbian Benevolent Society and the Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Employees of the New York Central. Besides his wife, he leaves to mourn his loss four daughters, Mrs. Stephen Butler of this city, Mrs. John Koncul of Catskill, Mrs. Stephen Duffer of Catskill, N. J., and Miss Helen Knego of Guttenberg, N. J., and Anthony Knego of Weehawken, N. J., also one sister, Mrs. Helen Nobis of Boston, Mass. The funeral will be held from his late home, 17 Dunn street, Saturday morning at 9:30 o'clock, and 10 o'clock at the Church of the Holy Name, where a requiem Mass will be offered for the repose of his soul. Interment will be in the family plot in St. Peter's cemetery at Rosendale.

Port Dix Leaves

Port Dix, N. J., Nov. 14 (AP)—The personnel of the 44th Division, New Jersey-New York National Guardsmen here for a year's active military training, will get a three-day Christmas leave and the other half a three-day New Year's holiday. Lt. Col. William H. Frazer, assistant chief of staff in charge of personnel, announced the holiday plans today. He said deserving men would receive one day leaves on November 21, the day the division is to celebrate Thanksgiving.

It's Avenue, Not Street

Kingston's newest highway is named Plymouth avenue, not Plymouth street, as incorrectly stated in Wednesday's Freeman. The new avenue is located in the new residential development on the southern side of Lucas avenue. The street received its name on adoption by the Common Council of Alderman Garon's resolution. Clyde J. DuBois of Kiersted avenue is developing the new residential section.

Will Publish List

The city treasurer's office is busy preparing for publication a list of delinquent taxpayers of the city as required by law. The list will be published in the local newspapers on Tuesday.

Woodstock Art Gallery Not Dead

Woodstock, N. Y., November 9, 1940

Editor, The Freeman:

There is democracy in art and art in democracy. Some time ago I wrote that the Woodstock Artists Association Gallery was dead. This letter leads up to proof that the gallery is not dead. Mr. Eugene Speicher has been the only one to offer an honest "reviver." He says "Better pictures on the walls of the gallery." I agree with Mr. Speicher and will admit that what would cause the old gallery's heart to flutter for a spell, but even that is not enough to raise the blood count to normal.

Today an art gallery must strive to meet the needs of the artist and the community, in a working relationship which is mutually valuable and reciprocal.

Art is a necessity and belongs to the community which has made it. So the first obligation of any art gallery is to extend art, as a necessity, to a larger public. The creative offerings of the artist are relative in this community co-operation and the offerings should be subject to spiritual and material remuneration.

No art gallery can stand as a healthy symbol in any order of society and isolate itself with a sense of precociousness around its foundations. Art is not a genius' talent, or gift from Heaven, and it should not be held as a selfish possession. It must be returned, exchanged, bartered and carteried, time and time again in intellectual mutual-ity.

I believe there should be immediate public meetings in Ellenville, Kingston, Saugerties, Woodstock and an unlimited radius to study the needs of the community in relation to arts and crafts. Representatives should be elected by the public in these meetings. There should be open meetings to artists and craftsmen to study their needs and for them to elect representatives.

The chosen representatives together to formulate plans for meeting the needs and you have real material to organize working committees and a live future policy.

I believe any art gallery should have a program of very definite public spirit objectives. These objectives would bring about the interests of community government, educational departments, cultural groups and civil minded sponsorship. There would be significance to an art gallery in any civic planning and such planning would not fail to see the lost stone asset of an art gallery to the community. There would be fullest cooperation with recreational city governments. Local radio would play a very important role, because the first obligation of any radio station is public service, interest, convenience or necessity. There would be rural planning and informal group offerings. Traveling print shows would become active. Debates and forums would appear. There would be adult and children's classes in art appreciation and sketching. More artists, students and new blood would come to the gallery and hills and valleys, which beg to be spoken to in a newer and healthier language. The gallery would become an art center in the true sense of the word and there would be direct economic results from all the enterprising experiments.

The Woodstock Artists Association gallery in Woodstock, is not dead. Ideas are being promulgated. Where there is life, unity, and thought process, there are great possibilities. If the blood still flows the arm moves and the fingers titillate. It has been napping—just asleep. Chrysalis. During the metamorphosis of the last few years of democratic gestures within the association and during the present cry for national unity and defense preparedness the Chrysalis stirs.

I look forward to a live art gallery in Woodstock, N. Y. To me, this means better pictures on the walls, meeting the needs of the artist and the community, and the best example of defense preparedness in unified United States.

Move to Clear Way for Heavy Defense Financing

All outstanding 3 1/2 per cent treasury bonds of 1941-43, amounting to approximately $545,000,000, will be called for redemption on March 15 next, Secretary Morgenthau announced Wednesday. It is indicated that these high interest rate bonds will be replaced by other long term bonds bearing a lower rate, probably 2 or 2 1/2 per cent, market conditions permitting. The move is an effort to reduce debt costs and clear the way for heavy defense financing. In addition to those bonds and issue of $834,000,000 of 3 1/2 per cent bonds will mature in August next year and these, too, probably will be refunded with long-term bonds bearing a lower interest rate. The present interest rate on the overall public debt is only 2.58 per cent.

It now appears practically certain that the Securities and Exchange Commission will adopt a new rule requiring some form of competitive bidding for the underwriting of new securities issued by registered public utility companies. This would be alternative or supplementary to the present regulation requiring "arm's length" bargaining between utilities and investment bankers.

Speaking last night before the Academy of Political Science, Alfred P. Sloan, Jr., chairman of General Motors, said that the defense program would create "synthetic prosperity" for the next two or three years, with an inevitable let-down after rearmament has been accomplished. He sees the possibility of inflation as "the most striking economic danger" facing the United States today.

Mr. Sloan finds industry handicapped in its attempt to speed up production by requirements for payment of premium wages for overtime work.

U. S. Steel will spend $20,000,000 or more in increasing capacity of the Birmingham plant of the Tennessee Coal, Iron & Railroad Co. The 18-month program will be started immediately and will add more than 400,000 tons annually to plant capacity.

Stocks again eased off Wednesday, with volume at 1,068,250 shares vs. 1,450,000 Wednesday. Industrials in the Dow-Jones averages dropped .80 point, to 136.61; rails were off .08, to 30.12 and utilities lost .02, to 21.66. Domestic news continued little changed with dividend and earnings reports from industry held favorable.

Int. Paper & Power took the leadership in the list of most active stocks and gained 1 1/4 in turnover of 34,600 shares. U. S. Steel, second, was down the same amount. Climax Molybdenum also was active and advanced over two points.

Commodities moved irregularly, with the index showing a gain. What was unchanged to a high. Cotton was firm generally, closing one higher to one lower. Rubber futures rose 20 to 28 points. Coffee and silk were steady, sugar eased.

Report of Anaconda Copper for nine months ended Sept. 30 showed a jump in earnings from $11,613,344 last year to $24,241,675 this year, equal to $2.79 a share.

Pennsylvania R. R. voted a dividend of $1 a share, making a total of $1.50 for 1940 vs. $1 paid in 1939.

Dun & Bradstreet wholesale price index rose four cents in the week ended November 12. It now stands at $2.43, a new high for the year, but only one cent above the same week in 1939, when it stood at $2.42.

Williston, N.D., with a reading of 17 below zero, was the coldest spot on the weather map yesterday.

Cold north winds whipped into the south, turning temperatures far below freezing and threatening damage to crops.

The weather here was expected to be even colder tomorrow, with freezing temperatures advancing into central Georgia and western parts of the Carolinas.

In Texas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Arkansas, Tennessee, Kentucky and Alabama, mercury dipped into the low 40s early today. Abilene, Tex., is numbed by a minimum of 14 below zero. Florence, Ala., and Lexington, Ky., and Fort Smith, Ark., reported morning lows of 19 degrees. Pools were coated with ice.

Agricultural dials in Alabama advised farmers to hasten the gathering of pinto and tomato crops, and coalminers and automobile service stations were swamped with frost.

Weathermen forecast temperatures would drop to 25 degrees late tonight along the Louisiana, Mississippi and Alabama coast. In the interior sections the weather was expected to be even milder. The sugar and truck crop regions of southern Louisiana were unaffected by the freezing blasts.

Sub-freezing weather also was forecast for northern Florida tonight, but the principal citrus areas are still south.

Bombers, Sights May Go to Britain Under New Plan

long range bombers would be turned over to the British before the year's end.

The ship-for-motored B-17C Boeings—a cable of carrying heavy bombs—led more than 3,000 miles and represent a type developed exclusively by the United States. The planes would be ideal for the big bombing missions the R.A.F. is now performing.

The reports said that Britain would "purchase the Boeings with surplus airplane motors from orders now being filled here."

WOMEN RALLY TO NATION'S DEFENSE IN RED CROSS VOLUNTEER SERVICES

Training Courses Fit Them for Duties Vital In Present Emergency

WITH the call to the colors of more than a million of the nation's young men, American women everywhere ask how they can volunteer their services to aid in the emergency. What part can women and girls play in national defense?

The American Red Cross, through its 3,700 chapters and their branches, provides the answer. More than a half million women already have enrolled to give their time in Red Cross volunteer services, according to Mrs. Dwight F. Davis of Washington, D. C., chairman of Red Cross Volunteer Special Services.

Through sewing and knitting a million garments for Europe's war victims, and making millions of surgical dressings for war wounded and sick, they have gained efficiency and experience which can be readily diverted to the work for home defense should the need arise, Mrs. Davis said.

In order to prepare most efficiently for any emergency which may come, the Red Cross is extending its training courses through its chapters. Women motorists are trained for the Red Cross Motor Corps; girls who wish to volunteer for office work, train for the Staff Assistant Corps; other thousands join the Canteen Corps; women and girls who wish to learn to protect the health of their families,

700 View League Play for Children

An audience numbering about 700 children and adults enjoyed the play, "Titian," presented at the high school auditorium Wednesday evening by members of the Junior League. The play was the annual dramatic presentation of the League for the children of the city and will be presented again this evening at 7 o'clock.

It was written especially for children between the ages of eight and 16 and was laid in Italy in the 16th century with settings and costumes in keeping with the period. Several members of the League who have appeared in its productions before were included in the cast and carried the play in their usual fine manner. The newcomers who appeared in roles also demonstrated their acting abilities in Wednesday's performance.

The title role of Titian Vecelli, a boy of 14, who later becomes Italy's leading artist, is played by Mrs. Herbert Johnson. The part of his rival, Salvatore Zampanti, son of the lord of the manor, is taken by Mrs. Paul Perlman, and Mrs. Newton Fessenden plays the role of his scheming father who is determined to have his son win the coveted art prize for which all the children are competing.

Mrs. Preston Hasbrouck appears as Gregorio, Titian's father, and Mrs. John Krom as his mother, both of whom show little sympathy with their son's aspirations to become an artist. The one person with real understanding of the boy's dream is the village priest, Father Anton, played by Mrs. William T. Fuller.

The young artist finally makes his own colors from flowers with the help of his sister, played by Mrs. John N. Cordis, Jr., and even though his Madonna has been married by his rival, he is awarded the coveted prize to study in Venice, and his painting is chosen as outstanding by the great artist, Bellini, played by Mrs. Terry Staples.

Others in the cast are Mrs. Sanger Carleton, as Lisa, sister of Salvatore; Mrs. Harry Le Fever, Jr., as his mother; and Mrs. Edgar Windigstad and Mrs. Everett E. Fessenden, Jr., as two village girls.

The play was directed by Ezra McIntosh with the scenery and costumes in charge of Mrs. Frances B. Knauth and Miss Mary Staples. The Madonna, used in the second and third acts, was painted by Miss Emily Hoysradt. During the intermissions selections were played by James Laurie and his orchestra.

Musical Society Gives Interesting Hymnology Program

An interesting and well arranged program on "Hymnology" was presented Wednesday evening at the Fair Street Reformed Church by members of the Musical Society of Kingston. The program was the first of this year's open meetings and was attended by a fair-sized audience.

The program, as arranged by the committee consisting of Miss Lucinda Merritt, Mrs. William Ellington and Mrs. Arthur Ellison, was a change from previous programs presented by the organist of the society, in that a narration on the topic was given in conjunction with the vocal and instrumental numbers. The narration, written by Miss Merritt, was presented by Miss Ethel Mauterstock.

The program, which was given in chronological order, traced the history of the hymns of the church from the earliest works of praise still universal in churches today, the "Gloria Patri" and continued through the contributions to church music of the Italian troubadours, the plainsongs, Martin Luther, the crusaders, Johann Sebastian Bach, George Frederick Handel, Charles Gounod, Alfred Gaul, John Sibelius and the present day gospel hymn writer, George Stebbins of Catskill.

During the program the congregation joined in the singing of the hymns. Members of the ensemble sang the "Largo" by Handel and "Liste the Cherubim Host" by Gaul. Incidental solos were taken by Mrs. LeRoy Wood and Harold Brigham. Frank Elmendorf, August Franz and Vernon Miller augmented the women's voices. Special numbers on the program were the "Toccata and Fugue in D Minor" by Bach, played by Miss Merritt and the "Hymne a Sainte Cecile" by Gounod, played by Mrs. Florence W. Coker, violinist, Mrs. LeRoy Wood, pianist, and Mrs. Lester Decker, organist.

The complete program as presented follows:

Hymn—Gloria Patri . . . Greatorex
Hymn—Welcome, Happy Morning
Hymn—Art Thou Weary (Antiphonal) . . . Baker
O Come, O Come, Emmanuel
Hymn—A Mighty Fortress Is Our God . . . Luther Hymn—Fairest Lord Jesus . . . Silesian Folk Song
Toccata and Fugue in D Minor . . . Bach

Lucinda Merritt
Hymn—Light of Light . . . Ahle-Bach
Air from "Largo" . . . Handel-Warheit
Hymn—Ye Servants of God . . . Haydn

Hymne a Sainte Cecile . . . Gounod
List! The Cherubim Host from "Holy City" . . . Gaul

Soloists, Ethel Wood and Harold Brigham
Hymn—Be Still, My Soul . . . Sibelius

Hymn—Saviour, Breathe an Evening Blessing . . . Stebbins
Accompanists for the evening were Mrs. Arthur Ellison, Mrs. Lester Decker and Mrs. William S. Eltinge. Members of the society singing in the ensemble were Miss Alberta Davis, Mrs. Edward Muller, Miss Helen Turner and Mrs. LeRoy Wood, first soprano; Mrs. Arthur J. Laidlaw, Mrs. Lester Decker, Mrs. Lloyd McFerson and Miss Margaret Howe, second soprano; and Mrs. Mortimer Downer, Mrs. Raymond Rignall, Mrs. Warren Ingalsbe and Miss Caroline Port, contraltos.

Affuso-Troncillo
Marlborough, Nov. 14.—Last Sunday afternoon in St. Mary's Church at 3 o'clock, Miss Mary Troncillo, daughter of Frank Troncillo, became the bride of Joseph Affuso, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dominick Affuso, with the ceremony being performed by the Rev. James Hanley. The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white brocade taffeta made princess style, and a long veil forming a train fell from a crown of white orchids held in place by a satin chin strap. Her bouquet was of white roses. Miss Mary Affuso, sister of the groom, was maid of honor and wore a dress of teal blue taffeta made princess style with a halo hat of matching blue and carried a bouquet of red roses. Anthony Nagliato of New York city was best man. A reception followed the ceremony with about 400 attending at the Troncillo home. Following a wedding trip to Washington, D. C., Mr. and Mrs. Affuso will make their home in Marlborough.

A center slice of smoked ham is one of the most popular of meat dishes, both because of its goodness and because it is easy to prepare. This cut is oval in shape and has a rim of white fat and a small round bone. There is almost no waste in this cut, which makes it an economical buy. The slice can be cut thin or thick, as you prefer. Thin slices can be quickly cooked by broiling or pan-broiling. Braising, that is, cooking in moist heat, is the method best suited for a thick slice.

Besides the slices cut across the center part of a whole ham, there are the ham slices cut from the butt end. The thrifty homemaker may find it to her advantage to buy the butt end of ham and to have it cut into two pieces. One piece, containing the aitch bone, can be cooked with vegetables. The other piece can be cut into single or double slices which have much the appearance of the center cut slices and can be prepared and served in the same way.

Broiled Ham Slice
Place ham slice on the broiler rack, far enough from the source of heat so that by the time one side is nicely browned, the meat will be cooked half way through. For a slice one inch thick this is a distance of about three inches in the average broiler when the heat is turned on high. When one side is browned, turn and broil the second side. Allow about 30 minutes for broiling a ham slice one inch

Ham Slice Is Center of Delicious Meal

A thick ham slice, or two slices with a mixture of mustard, flour and sugar between them, makes a tasty main dish for any meal. Sweet potatoes, glazed with a syrup of brown sugar and water in which strips of orange peel are cooked, accompany the ham here. Fresh vegetable salad, hard rolls and butter, individual pumpkin pies and coffee are included on the menu.

thick; 20 minutes for a slice one-half inch thick and 10 minutes for a thin slice.

Panbroiled Ham Slice

To panbroil a ham slice, brown it on both sides in a hot skillet, then cook slowly until done, turning frequently. Pour off the fat as it accumulates.

Make a gravy by adding milk to a small amount of fat left in the pan and thickening this with flour. Ham slices cooked in milk are especially good. Here is a delicious blend of flavors.

Braised Ham Slices

2 slices smoked ham
2 tablespoons flour
2 teaspoons sugar
2 teaspoons dry mustard
2 teaspoons water
1½ cups milk

Two center cut slices of ham, or two double slices from the ham butt, each three-quarters of an inch thick, can be used for this. Combine flour, sugar, mustard and water and spread over one slice. Cover with the second slice. Place the meat in a baking dish. Add milk, cover and cook in a moderate oven (300 degrees F.) for 2 hours, or until tender.

A very special way to serve a ham slice is on a plank or fireproof platter.

Planked Ham Slice

1 thick slice ham
6 slices pineapple
Mashed sweet potatoes
Cauliflower flowerets

Set oven regulator to "broil". Cut the fat edge of ham slice in several places. Place ham slice on the broiler rack so that the top surface is about three inches from the source of heat. When the top side is nicely browned, turn and let brown on the second side. When almost done, place on a wooden plank or fireproof platter. Arrange pineapple slices around the ham, alternating with cauliflower flowerets. Border with mashed sweet potatoes forced through a pastry tube. Dot sweet potatoes and cauliflower with butter and return to the oven to finish broiling the ham slice and brown the cauliflower and sweet potatoes.

Our Growing Population

The following births have been reported to the Board of Health: Mr. and Mrs. James E. McDonald of 101 Gage street, a son, Charles Allen, in Kingston Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward P. Mahoney of 35 East Chester street, a son, Thomas Joseph, in Kingston Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph A. Turck of 39 East Union street, a daughter, Josephine, in Benedictine Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Irving N. Wilpan of 154 Prospect street, a daughter, Sherry Barbara, in Benedictine Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert L. Engle of 120 Foxhall avenue, a son, Marvin Charles, in Benedictine Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Berinato of 2 North Wilbur avenue, a daughter, Elaine Louise.

Two Accidents Reported

Two automobile accidents in which no one was injured were reported to the police department Wednesday evening. Both crashes occurred during the rain storm that enveloped the city that night. At 9:30 o'clock a car operated by Henry Rockwell of 211 Hurley avenue, in pulling out from the curb on Hasbrouck avenue, near Meadow street, collided with a car driven by William Koepfen of 223 Downs street. Shortly after 11 o'clock cars driven by Harry Kaplan of 25 Brewster street and Dr. Richard R. Keator of Saugerties, collided on Broadway, near Liberty street. Both cars were damaged.

West Shokan School Has

Busy November Calendar

West Shokan, Nov. 14—Pupils having perfect attendance records at the local school for October were: Anthony Colange, Louise Colange, Betty Constable, Francis Constable and Sarah Roe.

Rosetta Colange was the honor member for the month.

Health roll members who qualified were Louise Colange and Rosetta Colange.

The Junior Town Club met at the close of last Friday afternoon's sessions. The supervisor, Sarah Roe, presided. The following officers were elected for the month of November: Helen Harrison, supervisor; Betty Constable, superintendent; Louise Colange, clerk; Anthony Colange, health officer; Sarah Roe, collector; Francis Constable, constable, and Rosetta Colange, judge.

A combined birthday and club party was held after the close of the business meeting, it being the birthday of Louise Colange and the following day the birthday of Francis Constable. A large birthday cake seemed to be the center of attraction. Helen Harrison and Sarah Roe presented the birthday children with gifts on behalf of their schoolmates which pleased them greatly. After partaking of the delicious cake and dessert, and wishing Louise and Francis many more such birthdays, the children departed having enjoyed themselves very much.

Haver Addresses Rotary Luncheon

District Attorney Gives Interesting Talk

District Attorney N. LeVan Haver was the speaker at the Rotary luncheon held Wednesday at the Governor Clinton Hotel. The Ulster county district attorney gave an illuminating talk on the work of the prosecutor and also the case of the lawyer for the defense. He cited a number of very interesting cases which were disposed of in county court.

The most serious problem confronting society, the speaker brought out, was the large number of criminals below the age of 25. Rehabilitation of these criminals, he asserted, was the main object of the court and not the mere meting out of sentences for the offenses committed. The increasing number of youthful offenders brought into court was shown in the reports of the grand juries.

In order to acquaint underprivileged children with the grave danger in violating the law and with the hope that it might act as a deterrent, these youths are brought into a session of court, when sentence was to be passed on a criminal. It is felt by the authorities, the speaker said, that this graphic example of the penalty paid for serious wrong doing would be efficacious in keeping them from falling into crime.

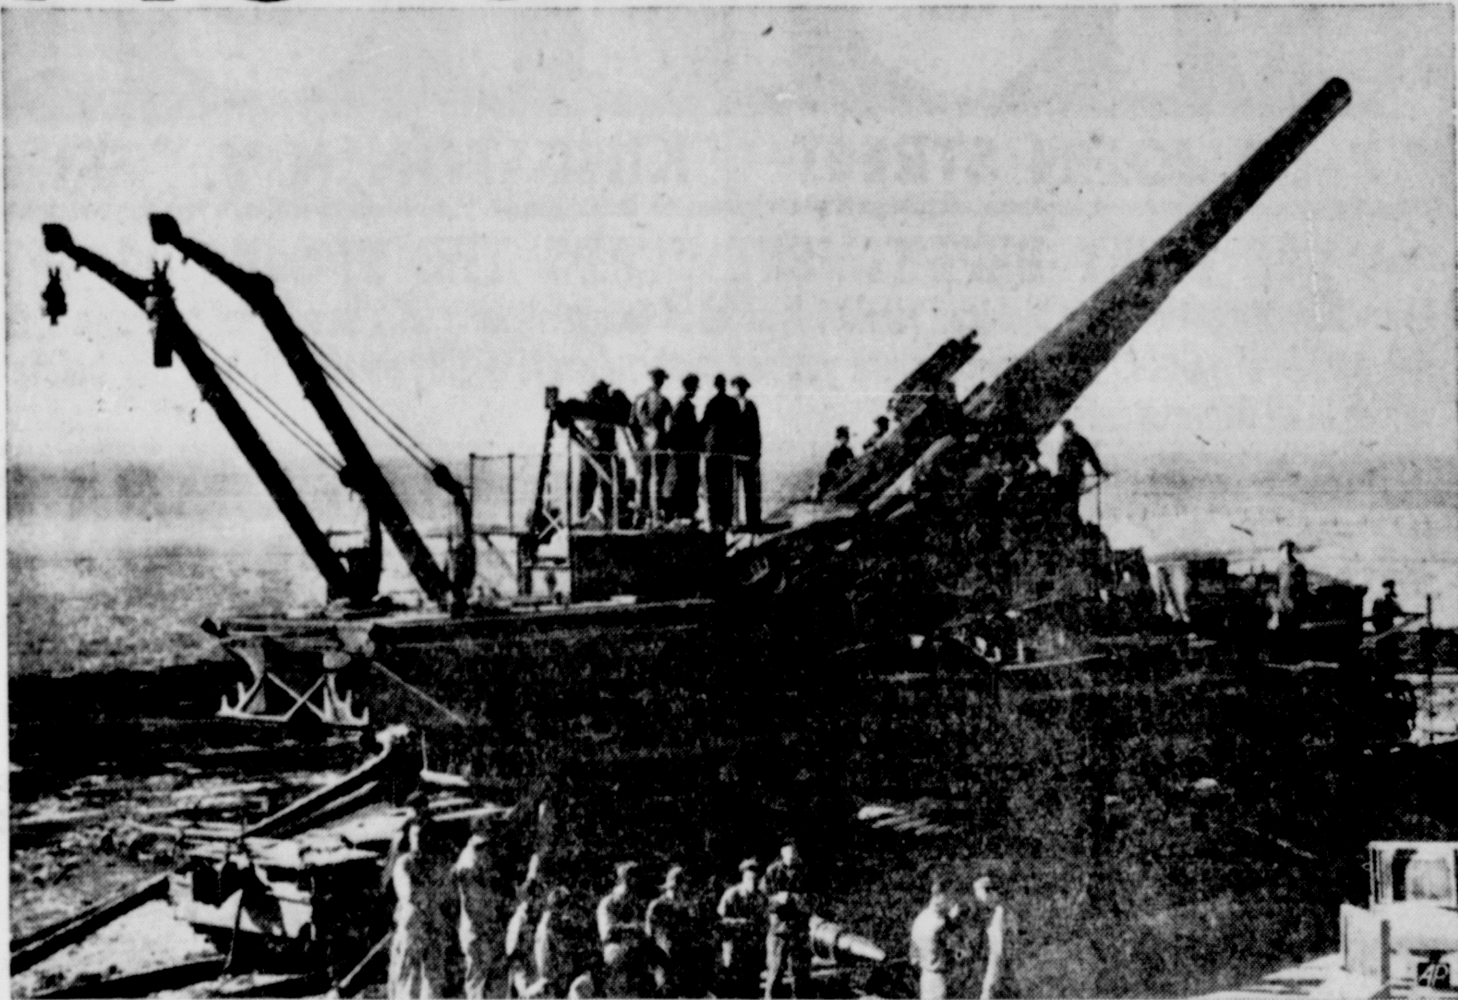

Many of the young people sent to prison did not have the benefit of proper parental guidance and in order to instruct these children the courts cooperate with the probation officers.

UNCLE SAM WHEELS OUT A BIG ONE—During a test of west coast defense preparations, the army's big 14-inch guns, like this one, were put through their paces near Naples, Cal. See how its size dwarfs the men on car and near track.

SOMETHING ABOUT A (NAZI) SOLDIER—"A German soldier hands back a notebook to a smiling Parisian." Thus does a Berlin-approved caption describe above photo from Paris.

RISKY—The hazards of his occupation—he's one of nation's best test pilots—hasn't blunted the feeling of H. Lloyd Child (above) has for planes. He's alongside a Curtiss Hawk 81-A pursuit ship being built at Buffalo for England.

SCENE ALONG SEINE—Stalled along the famous Paris book stalls along the Seine river are these German soldiers, who apparently are seeking bargains. Two towers of Notre Dame cathedral appear in the right background.

HOW DO I LOOK?—Winter's just around the corner when the army starts issuing woolies to the soldiers. This undershirt seems a good fit for Warren Snodgrass of Utica, N. Y., who's at Fort Dix, N. J. The supply "sarge" is John Kniese.

Two Are Arrested

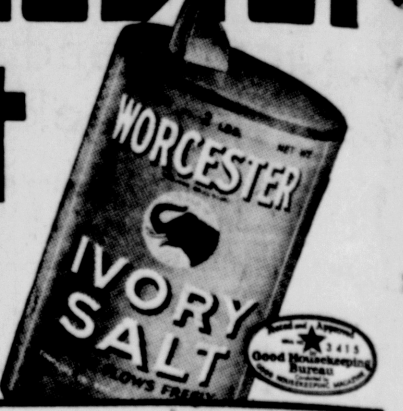

Two arrests for alleged traffic violations were made by the police department Wednesday evening. James L. Tiano of East Kingston, charged with passing a red traffic light, posted bail for his appearance later in police court. William J. Wolfell, Jr., of 13 Second avenue, charged with failing to obey the reasonable command of an officer on traffic duty in front of the city hall, forfeited $2 by not appearing to answer to the charge.

BOWLING

Falcato Is Here

One of bowling's top performers, Joe Falcato, arrived at the Central Recreation alleys about noon today to begin a period of instruction for beginners and experienced bowlers. A large crowd of male and female bowlers known as the most publicized bowler in the history of the game. Falcato was accompanied by Chester Armstrong, famous team bowler who was a member of the Schlitz team of New York that set an all-time record with 3326 here last year. Tonight at 10 o'clock, Falcato will roll a series of ten singles and doubles against outstanding local opposition.

Kingston Board Gets 17 Blanks

Officials Say 9 Registrants in Draft Volunteer

Kingston's Selective Service Board this morning reported that 17 of the 81 questionnaires that had been mailed to registrants in the draft had been filled out and returned to the board. All of the questionnaires must be returned by Saturday as the board will meet at that time to classify the registrants according to the answers contained in the questionnaires.

It was stated at the office of the board that so far nine registrants in the draft had volunteered, asking to be sent first. The city's quota is eight men, and it will be filled from those who volunteered if they pass the physical examination.

The physical examinations will be held some time next week, and the registrants will receive notice when to appear for the physical tests.

Child Needs Religious Training, Too, Says Writer

We have laid great stress on the physical care of children. We have set up centers for the education of mothers, organized extensive nursing services for mothers and children, trained specialists for their protection against disease.

But in our devotion to health and education we have overlooked the basic element in the matter. We have made scant provision for the education and development of his spirit. We have glorified his body and neglected his soul.

You cannot prepare for a successful happy life on this earth and leave out God and His works, ideals and laws. Yet that, for the most part, is what we have done in relation to the education of our children.

The clergyman is helpless unless the parents co-operate with him. It is idle to teach a child one idea for 15 minutes or half an hour a day when the remaining hours of the 24 deny the teaching. It is just as idle for the teacher to teach day after day the duty of man to his neighbor and to himself if the home denies the teaching. Church and school and home together must bring the full measure of their regard for the soul of the child upon his daily life so that righteous becomes his habit.

The above is by Angelo Patri of the Chicago Daily News.

City's Part in Art Week Outlined

Purpose Is to Stimulate Interest and Sales

Kingston's part in the national observance of Art Week will be an exhibition of art in the municipal auditorium the week of November 25 to December 1, and Wednesday afternoon the members of the Ulster county committee met with Mayor C. J. Heiselman at the city hall to discuss plans for the exhibit.

The mayor, Carl Eric Linden, Judson Smith and Norbert Heermann addressed the meeting and explained the purpose of holding the exhibit in Kingston that week.

The exhibit is for the purpose of not only stimulating interest in works of art but also that the works exhibited might be sold.

Mr. Linden, who is a well known member of the Woodstock Art Colony, gave an interesting talk on art, and suggested that the various organizations of the city and county might decide to purchase one of the exhibits to be hung in their meeting rooms.

Mr. Smith, also a well known member of the Art Colony, said that fewer works of art are purchased in this country than in any other nation in the world.

Norbert Heermann also spoke briefly on the purpose of holding the exhibition.

Mayor Heiselman said that in his many calls in homes in the city and county he found that the majority of homes did not possess as many works of art as others. He called attention to the fact that the Woodstock Art Colony was one of art centers of the United States.

Mr. Smith said that the artists who would exhibit had been urged to cut the price of the works displayed and that in many cases the price "had been cut to the bone."

Both Mr. Linden and Mr. Smith said that in purchasing a work of art the purchaser should use his own judgment and select only what pleased him.

Mrs. Harold Davis of 52 Elmendorf street was chosen as secretary of the committee to have charge of the many details in connection with the exhibit. She said that more than a hundred artists had been invited to exhibit at the auditorium during Art Week.

The exhibit is for the purpose of not only stimulating interest in works of art but also that the works exhibited might be sold.
